BOOKMAKING IN COUNTY PROBED

Sheriff Plans Arrests If He Learns Of Any Violations Here

Sheriff Logan Jackson has been investigating the race track "bookmaking" situation in Orange county, and if any law violations are discovered, arrests will be made and prosecutions will follow.

Sheriff Jackson made this statement today following reports that a wholesale campaign has been launched by Los Angeles county authorities to expel from that section any bookmakers found to be operating illegally.

There are some 280 establishments operating there, not counting the many smaller "bookies" doing business in the rear of drug stores, barber shops and beer parlors, according to newspaper reports.

No arests have been made in Orange county. Sheriff Jackson said that any law violations called to his attention, whether in connection with horse race betting or otherwise, will be followed by arrests.

Sheriff Jackson was quoted as saying that "we can't put on a drive in Orange county against illegal bookmaking like they are doing in Los Angeles county because conditions are different here. In this county, illegal bookies are pretty well scattered and manage to keep under cover so that they are hard to find."

Huge Defense Bill Urged To Congress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP) — More seacoast and western outpost defense, further increases in army enlisted strength and the national guard, and expansion of the air force were recommended to the house today in a war department appropriation bill carrying $374,981,521 for the nation's land forces in the 1937 fiscal year.

This national defense total was another peace time high. It was $23,803,501 more than the $351,178,020 allowed for the current financial year ending June 30, although $43,989 below budget estimates. Nor did the total include a grant of authority to contract for $10,669,786 worth of equipment, reappropriations of $2,845,925 and $285,000 made available of purchase-of-discharge funds. Their addition brought military funds available to the next fiscal year to $388,782,232.

Quints' Papa Says His Land 'Stolen'

CALLANDER, Ont., Feb. 10. (AP) Oliva Dionne said today the Ontario government has expropriated seven and a half acres of his land without making an attempt to negotiate with him for its purchase.

The father of the quintuplets made plans immediately to contest the government's reported action.

Dionne said he understood the government plans a public park in the area, which includes the land occupied by the Dafore hospital, home of the quintuplets, and the Dionne farm home where the children were born.

Officer Missing From Transport

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10. (AP) Capt. E. E. McLellan of the army transport Republic was reported missing when the ship docked here today.

Army officials launched an immediate inquiry. A wireless message had informed them of the officer's disappearance.

State G.O.P. Slate Left Up to Visalia Session on Feb. 29

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 10. (AP)—Harmony remained the keynote today as the California Republican assembly went home after a three-day conclave and left a special commmittee to work on a slate of uninstructed delegates to the national convention.

The question of indorsing a particular presidential candidate was definitely straddled by the young Republicans of the assembly to avoid "antagonizing" other Republican groups of the state, leaders indicated. The special committee's slate is scheduled to be reported to a meeting of county units at Visalia Feb. 29, which are empowered to instruct the committee further, or, if advisable, endorse a candidate and a delegation pledged to such a candidate.

Shelve Indorsement

All efforts by supporters of Governor Landon of Kansas, Governor Merriam of California, and others for a final decision on the indorsement issue were shelved at the assembly's convention.

Planks recommended by the assembly to the party's national convention included:

Withdrawal of United States recognition of Soviet Russia.

Demand that "congress and the executive shall cease attempts to circumvent or nullify constitutional principles."

Other Planks

Condemnation of congressional surrender of power to executives and bureaus and commissions not under control or supervision of congress.

Affirming the right of workers to bargain either individually or collectively.

Edward S. Shattuck, Los Angeles, was elected president, succeeding Sherill Halbert of Porterville.

SUNDQUIST FORECASTS FIREWORKS AT MEETING

If there are to be any fireworks at the Visalia meeting of the California Republican assembly Feb. 29, they will be started over the question of an instructed California delegation to the Republican national convention. E. M. Sundquist, executive vice president of the organization in this assembly district, made this prediction today following his return from the meeting of the assembly at Santa Barbara on Saturday.

CRASH KILLS SANTA ANAN

Traffic Smash Occurs Outside Of County; V. Orosco Victim

A traffic accident at 2 a. m. today, one-half mile west of the county line on Manchester boulevard, claimed the life of Victor Orosco, 21, of 1845 West Eighth street, Santa Ana. Orosco, who was riding in a car driven by Pete Valles, 211 Franklin street, Santa Ana, died while en route to the county hospital in a McAulay and Suters ambulance from Fullerton.

Coroner Earl Abbey, investigating the case, was told by Valles that an approaching car had caused him to swerve from the highway. His machine turned over, pinning Orosco beneath the wreckage. The other car, which had assertedly swerved to the wrong side of the highway, did not stop. The pair were returning to their homes from a dance in Artesia when the accident occurred.

Young Orosco's body has been removed to the Harrell and Brown mortuary in Santa Ana where funeral arrangements will be made following an inquest by Coroner Abbey. The deceased is survived by his mother, Mrs. Modesta Orosco.

F. D. R. Delays His California Choices

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—National Democratic Chairman James A. Farley announced after a White House conference today that President Roosevelt would not complete selection of the personnel of state of California delegates to the Democratic national convention until at least another week or 10 days.

Judge Craig Loses Conspiracy Appeal

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10. (AP) Gavin W. Craig, former judge of the California district court of appeal, and Joseph Weinblatt, both of Los Angeles, lost their appeal today in the United States ninth circuit court of appeals from conviction of conspiracy in seeking to get a corrupt dismissal of indictments in the Italo-Pete case.

HUEY LONG'S LAW RULED INVALID

Tax On Publications Unconstitutional, Says U. S. Court

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—A Louisiana law passed at the behest of the late Senator Huey P. Long, taxing newspaper and other advertising, was killed by the supreme court today as an unconstitutional restraint upon the freedom of the press.

"This seems to be a device to limit a free press," declared Justice Sutherland in the court's unanimous decision. "Suppression or abridgement of a free press can not be veiwed except with concern."

'Opinion at Stake'

He said an "informed and enlightened opinion" has been at stake throughout history and that restrains on newspapers plainly were prohibited by the 14th amendment to the constitution.

The Louisiana law, passed in 1934 when Long dominated the state's politics, taxes newspaper, magazine and motion picture advertisements. It imposed a 2 per cent gross receipts tax on advertisements in publications with a weekly circulation of 20,000 or more.

A three-judge federal district court in Louisiana had held the legislation unconstitutional and enjoined the state from enforcing it.

No TVA Decision

The court today deferred its TVA decision until at least next Monday.

Disappointing another throng of notables and lawyers who had expected the long-awaited ruling, the court concluded the handing down of rulings without any mention of the contested New Deal law.

Feb. 17 is the next decision day. More than 50 days have passed since the TVA arguments. Usually decisions are given out in much shorter time.

Lioness Frightens 2000 In Theater

BALTIMORE, Feb. 10. (AP) — Ruthie rested in a hospital here today after an opening night, turn-out performance.

Ruthie is a lioness. Her first performance in Baltimore was in a neighborhood theater last night. In her wake she left a slightly injured boy, a hysterical woman and nearly 2000 frightened theater patrons.

For, Ruthie, instead of going on the stage, bounded from her cage backstage, through a door and into the aisle. Her second bound carried her into the laps of four boys in the fourth row. She finally was shot by a policeman in the lobby and captured.

Rising Coal Price Brings 'Threat'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Rising coal prices as a result of recent prolonged cold weather drew a warning today from the bituminous coal commission it was prepared to fix maximum prices for the fuel if necessary to protect consumers.

Chairman Charles F. Hosford, jr., reminded a meeting of coal producers the commission has such power and would use it promptly if conditions warranted.

Fitts' Sister Is Freed Of Charge

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 10. (AP)—Superior Judge Pat R. Parker of Mono county dismissed today a perjury charge against Mrs. Berthal Gregory, sister-secretary of District Attorney Buron Fitts.

The charge was similar to that against Fitts, who won acquittal last week.

Senator Long Lives Again

Meet Louisiana's new Senator Long. Mrs. Rose McConnell Long, above, wife of the late Senator Huey Pierce Long, today was sworn in as a member of the United States senate to fill the unexpired term of her husband. She becomes the second woman in the senate. She was appointed by Gov. James A. Noe.

CURTIS BODY GOES WEST

Rites For Former Vice President To Be At Kansas Capital

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 10. (AP)—The body of former Vice President Charles Curtis sped westward today for final honors in the city of his birth and scene of his progress from jockey to high office.

An impressive funeral in the state capitol awaited arrival Tuesday of the body from Washington, where the 76-year-old statesman of Indian descent died unexpectedly Saturday after a heart attack.

To Lie in State

State business will be suspended while the official body, headed by Gov. Alf. M. Landon and the supreme court justices, attend the services in the house of represenatives hall. Dr. Harold G. Case, pastor of the First Methodist church, will preach the sermon.

For two hours before the funeral, the body will lie in state in the capitol rotunda, not far from where Mr. Curtis stood in August, 1928, before nearly 50,000 persons to be notified formally of his nomination for the vice presidency.

Offices to Close

All public offices in Topeka have been asked to close for the funeral, the first ever held in the Kansas statehouse.

The funeral party from Washington will include Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gann, brother-in-law and sister of Curtis which whom he made his home, and Mrs. Webster Knight, his daughter.

The Kaw Indian tribe of Oklahoma, of which Curtis was a member, made plans to be represented officially at the services.

Reveal Donations To Navy League

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Testimony that steel manufacturers, shipbuilders and steamship operators had contributed to the support of the navy league organized to promote a big navy was presented today before the senate munitions committee.

With Nelson Mack, president of the league, as a witness, the committee presented lists of life members and periodic supporters incuding Charles M. Schwab, of Bethlehem Steel company; Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel company; John J. Raskob, former Democratic national chairman; and "a miscellaneous group of DuPonts."

MRS. LONG IS SWORN IN

Capacity Crowd Sees Huey Long's Widow Seated In Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Mrs. Rose McConnell Long, of Louisiana, appointed to serve the unexpired term of her late husband, Huey P. Long, was sworn in today as a member of the senate.

The oath was administered by Vice President Garner as a capacity gallery looked on.

Escorted by Overton

Mrs. Long, who was escorted to the dais by Senator Overton, was appointed to the senate by Gov. James A. Noe and has been designated by the state central Democratic committee as Democratic nominee in the state general election in April.

Senator Hattie Caraway of Arkansas was the first woman elected to the senate.

Senator Overton and Governor Noe escorted Mrs. Long into the chamber.

She was dressed in black and wore an orchid shoulder bouquet.

Children Look On

From the gallery the ceremony was watched by her daughter Rose and two sons, Russell and Palmer.

Mrs. Long was greeted before the senate convened by women members of the house including Representatives Jenckes (D., Ind.) and O'Day (D., N. Y.)

Senators who came forward to greet her included Pittman (D., Nev.), the president pro-tempore, and Lewis (D., Ill.), Democratic whip.

Rain Begins To Fall In Santa Ana

Rain began falling in Santa Ana at 1:30 p. m. today. The United States weather bureau at Los Angeles forecast this morning that rain was not due in this area until Tuesday.

Mercury Falls to Minus 32 in N.D.; Trains Snowed In CHICAGO, Feb. 10. (AP)—Towering snowdrifts and glacial cold crippled much of the mid-continent today, returning the fight against the elements to the terms of pioneer days.

Isolated ranchers in South Dakota burned fence posts and hay to keep warm, while their city cousins in snowbound communities in that and other Central states rationed fuel against the sub-zero cold. Abnormally cold weather, the weather bureau said, would continue in the North-Central states tomorrow and probably through Wednesday, with, however some rise in temperatures in extreme southern sections tonight or Tuesday.

Througout the Middle West augmented crews worked to dig out the paths of modern travel—highways and railroads, after a weekend in which both were almost at a standstill.

30-Foot Drifts

Double engines pulled some trains into Chicago, as many as 50 shovelers rode other lines. Drifts in railroad cuts were reported as deep as 30 feet.

The longest and bitterest cold spell of many years clung on relentlessly, with the lowest recorded temperature minus-32 at Williston, N. D. Almost the entire northern half of the country was in the grip of zero, subzero or near zero cold.

Winter pushed the zero front as far south as extreme southern Missouri, and east to New York.

Dramatic Rescues

Many dramatic rescues were reported including the saving by coast guardsmen of seven CCC workers afloat on ice floes in Cape Cod bay for 22½ hours. At the same time an airplane started from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., to search for three men adrift on ice in Lake Michigan.

Snow plows and shoveling crews raced deprivation in many sections. Country areas in southern Minnesota were pressed not only for fuel but for provisions. Farmers loaded cans of milk on tobogggans and drew them by hand to some towns where supplies were running short.

Cold Kills Two

Throughout Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa State highway crews were beginning to open the roads after a week-end in which they were able to handle only emergency calls, such as those from snowbound communities needing doctors and fuel.

A rancher froze to death in his corral, near Philip, S. D., and a motorist was found dead at his summer home north of Chicago after his car stalled in the drifts.

SAVE 7 BOYS FROM ICE

CCC Youths Marooned 22 Hours On Floating Piece Of Ice

BOSTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Seven CCC youths, marooned on floating ice in Cape Cod bay since noon Sunday, were rescued by coastguardsmen today, 22½ hours after they had been cast adrift when ice broke from the mainland at Brewster.

The rescue was accomplished by use of a small boat which coastguardsmen pushed over the rough, floating ice to the youths after the patrol boat Harriet Lane had failed in efforts to buck through the thick ice.

The youths were in two groups a mile apart. The quarter-mile stretch of ice that carried them seaward while they were out walking, split during the night and the marooned youths were separated into groups of five and two.

All seven were brought back to the Harriet Lane.

One of the youths was suffering from frozen feet and in need of immediate hospital treatment. The other six were suffering from cold and exposure and in need of treatment.

They were on week-end leave from their East Brewster camp. About noon yesterday they walked out on the ice two miles offshore. The day had turned warm, an offshore wind blew up and with the ebbing of the tide, the ice upon which they stood broke away from the mainland.

Air Ace Sets New Mark, Then Sleeps

CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, Feb. 10. (AP)—Tommy Rose, former flight lieutenant of the Royal Air force, set a new record for the England-to-Cape Town aerial jaunt, and then devoted himself calmly today to regaining lost sleep.

The British former flying officers set his monoplane down here last night at dusk.

He completed the 5000-mile trip in three days, 17 hours, 38 minutes, clipping 13 hours, 17 minutes from the time of four days, six hours, 55 minutes set by Mrs. Amy Johnson Mollison in November, 1932.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 10. (AP) Dispatches from Belem indicated today that one out of every five persons in the interior village of Santa Rem had been killed by an undiagnosed malady.

Col. Antonio Figueira, political leader of the village, was quoted as saying that more than 1000 inhabitants were already dead, and that at least five were dying each day.

New Accusation Against Mooney

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10. (AP) Thomas J. Mooney was accused today of attempting to establish a defense several days before the 1916 Preparedness day parade was bombed.

The accusation was made by Assistant Attorney General William Cleary as the state opened its case in Mooney's habeas corpus hearing.

Grand Jury Probes Brea Morals Case

The grand jury today was reported to be hearing evidence in a matter involving the relations of L. L. Lemon, middle-aged Brea man, and three young Brea girls. It was said that the girls appeared before the grand jury and testified, and also that Mr. Lemon appeared. Mr. Lemon is connected with an oil company at Brea.

Weary, Hungry Knights of The Road Both Plentiful And Costly to Santa Ana

(Today The Journal is presenting the third of a series of articles dealing with the transient welfare problem in Orange county. The question will be examined from many angles, including that of the transient himself, in an effort to present a working picture of the situation, which has been brought forcefully into the public consciousness by action of Los Angeles police in attempting to keep indigents from entering the state.—Editor.)

By BOB GUILD

Say what you will, every day they blow into Santa Ana, weary, blowsy, hungry knights of the road. And then what?

Several things. Desk Sergeant Carney L. Neuschwanger of the Santa Ana police tells a story that is similar to that coming from the county welfare department.

"Every day," he says, "we get from three to five of them in here. Sometimes they come in asking for a handout, sometimes they're picked up outside, aud sometimes they just want to be locked up for the night."

The police department treatment of transients varies. Some are charged with vagrancy, kept overnight and taken to the edge of town in the morning. Others are merely sent on their way with a warning against begging or other infractions of the law.

Every time one of them is dealt with by the police it means an expense to the taxpayers of the county. Multiply four by 30—the answer is 120. One hundred and twenty reports made and filed in a month, nearly that many breakfasts served, bunks provided, dimes handed out.

Sergeant Neuschwanger is a kindly man; he feels like the wel-

Santa Ana Notables Start Big 'Rush for Cover,' But Art of Hat Wearing Fades

By ROCH BRADSHAW

A campaign was under way in Santa Ana today to preserve the ancient and honorable art of hat wearing.

An investigation revealed the startling fact that many younger men do not know how to handle a hat. Shocked by this discovery, a group of prominent older men has begun to rush for cover. Fearing that they would be exposed for their part in allowing the art to disappear, leaders who have not worn hats for many years are now equipped with head pieces. And they like them.

The Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of the First Baptist church, was one of the first to sense the danger in the present situation. Believing he should do his part in setting an example and helping to preserve the hat-wearing custom, the Rev. Mr. Owings got a hat. Mrs. Owings gave it to him for Christmas.

Unofficially it has been reported that the Rev. Mr. Owings had not worn a hat for 12 years. Attempts are being made to verify this rumor.

One of the most sensational discoveries brought to light in the present investigation is the fact that Charley Givens, of the Givens and Cannon drug stores, had been flaunting his uncovered head for 35 years until a short time ago. Mr. Givens apparently saw the present expose com-

ITALIAN AIR RAIDERS BOMB DESSYE, REPORT HUNDREDS KILLED

BLACKS CLAIM ONLY 1 DEAD IN ATTACK

League Of Nations May Abandon Plans For Oil Sanctions

ROME, Feb. 10. (AP) — Italian newspapers today carried reports dated Dessye, Ethiopia, saying that a squadron of seven Italian airplanes had bombed Dessye for an hour yesterday killing hundreds of Ethiopians while Emperor Haile Selassie personally conducted the defense of the city.

Meanwhile the Ethiopian government issued a special communique enumerating the casualties in the bombing raid as one dead and three wounded, with a Red Cross plane damaged.

The Italian press version said that bombs fell in the vicinity of the emperor's palace, destroyed portions of the military encampment, and set the woods surrounding Dessye on fire.

Furthermore, it was reported, two Ethiopian airplanes were destroyed.

The Ethiopian government stated that two of the bombs were aimed at a Dutch ambulance.

The Addis Ababa communique said:

"Dessye was bombed at 9:45 a. m. Sunday. One person was killed and three wounded. One hundred incendiary and explosive bombs were dropped.

"The villages near Dessye were bombed and one woman and one child were wounded.

"The first two bombs visibly were dropped over a Dutch ambulance but without damage. One Ethiopian Red Cross airplane was slightly damaged."

LEAGUE MAY AVOID OIL SANCTION

GENEVA, Feb. 10. (AP)—Probability that the League of Nations will not, after all, impose an oil embargo against Italy was seen today in diplomatic discussions.

The oil embargo is under study as a supplement to other league sanctions against the Mussolini government for its campaign in Ethiopia.

But recent developments in the Mediterranean area, notably the nationalist riots in Egypt and Syria, have demonstrated adequately what the British have feared throughout the Italo-Ethiopian struggle: A continuation of the war between white and colored is likely to have repercussions under other flags.

Italy has warned that she would consider the application of more sanctions an unfriendly act and, consequently, many diplomats at Geneva fear that more league actions directed against Italy would do nothing but cause more unfriendliness.

ing about a year ago. He protected himself from exposure by buying a helmet.

Smedley Joins Movement

Ralph Smedley, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., is another local resident who has begun using his head for a hatrack. Mr. Smedley had been utilizing his head exclusively for other purposes for five or six years. One of the things he used it for was to push the Rotary club Wheelbarrow. He still does that, but finds he can get the publication out each week more easily now that he has a hat in which to collect his thoughts before dumping them into the Wheelbarrow.

The current probe has revealed a number of other prominent citizens who have been getting by without head pieces. The following list of these exposed citizens will be furnished confidentally by The Journal to any haberdasher or clothier who sends in a stamped, self-addressed envelope:

Look At This List

Councilman Plummer Bruns (with a 19-year record to break); Calvin Flint, junior college orator, who always gives his lectures bareheaded; Warren Fletcher, Security Title Company official; David Carmichael, Orange County Auto Club executive (10 years); Councilman William Penn, an on-and-offer; Leland Auer, band director (needs a hat to mute the trombone); the Rev. Samuel Edgar, pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church (now and then); Supervisor N. E. West (coming from Laguna Beach, he should wear a beret); Councilman Ernest Layton (sometimes wears a cap); Adrian Marks (likes to smoke a pipe); Milan Miller, photographer; Harry Hanson, banker; the Rev. O. W. Reinius, pastor of the Richland avenue Methodist church; Fred Forgy, attorney; Frederick Elliott, architect; Elmer Heidt, manager Automobile Club of Southern California; and F. D. Roosevelt, president of the United States, Washington, D. C.

What is believed to be a world's record for power line construction has been established by forces of the Metropolitan water district, working on the building of the Colorado river aqueduct, when 450 miles of high voltage transmission line were built in 300 consecutive days.

In many districts of Texas and Oklahoma the 1935 pecan crop was the largest in years.

MORE ABOUT TRANSIENTS

fare department, that "you can't let them starve." He tells a tale of $6 in dimes and quarters handed out in one month to transients asking for a cup of coffee, or a bed for the night. Most of these men keep right on going, out of town. Some of them are repeaters, and come drifting back in a year or two to ask the police department for a bed or a meal again.

Saturday before noon there had been four calls at the police station, all similar: "There is a man begging at my back door for food. What will I do with him?"

Each time a police car was sent out to pick up the man and send him on his way. The Santa Ana war on indigents is no less concentrated in its way than that launched in Los Angeles.

Saturday Busy Day

Saturday afternoon and night is the worst time of the week, according to Sergeant Neuschwanger. Then these "gentlemen of the highways" hit the downtown areas, where householders are doing week-end shopping, for their mooching and panhandling.

Saturday evening the police station is apt to be fairly well filled with tramps picked up on complaint, suspicion or vagrancy charges. Nothing very serious, they say, but a constant cause of annoyance, worry and expense. If the influx is not stopped, it gets worse. Word of easy touches and good towns gets around among the gentry.

The police do not see more than a quarter of them. Men with a record, with a worry, or with reason to stay away from the law will not come to the station and submit to identification and fingerprinting. Others, the kind who are on the road out of necessity, sometimes feel ashamed at the official contact and prefer to spend the night under the Santiago creek bridge or in a bum jungle.

New Type of Tramp

And the worst of the situation, according to the police sergeant, is in the new type of tramp the times are breeding. Young, hard, reckless, they are products of the depression. They've never had a job and don't want one. They travel light, with a towel and "the makings" in their pocket. They "mooch" what they can, and what they can't "mooch" they take.

They haunt the jungles and freightyards. They are contemptuous of a workaday life. They long ago lost any home they had—wouldn't use one if they had it. They're not the "blanket-stiff" of the old days, the old fellow who carried his home on his back. They've got nothing except what they can get day from day.

There wasn't a job in the world when they came of working age. There was a depression. There also was prohibition, lawlessness, racketeering, stealing, plundering and killing on a scale which had never been known before.

What's To Be Done?

Now in a time when the government is offering rehabilitation and a sustenance job to all who will take it, there are more of these new transients than ever before. What will be done with them and the problem to the community, to any community, that they represent?

CCC camps, transient work camps, the United States army, the navy—these are some of the possibilities, some of which already have been discussed, others of which will be mentioned later. There also is charity, private and public, which must be avoided if possible.

The story of the Salvation Army as it deals with this problem will be told tomorrow.

700 FLOCK TO TOWNSEND ADDRESS

Outlining the political potency of the Townsend movement, Col. Ralph D. Horton, Los Angeles, addressed an audience of more than 700 Orange county Townsendites Saturday night at the first of a series of mass meetings to inaugurate the new Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street.

Scores came from all part of the county who could not find even standing room in the hall.

"It is within our power to help in the coming political campaign any party who will guarantee to help us to enact our plan into law," Colonel Horton declared.

"Political Suicide"

"But," he continued, "it will prove to be political suicide for those who seek to defy the mandate of the people of this movement."

The Townsend plan is more than a temporary measure, he averred. Townsend clubs will likely prove a permanent feature of American life, he said, as an organization to establish and protect the economic measure inculcated in the movement.

A comparison of Dr. Francis Townsend, founder of the plan, with patriotic leaders of the country, provided a historical background for the talk.

Band Gives Concert

T. Dunstan Collins, director of the 19th district Townsend band, presented an ensemble of younger members of the band in a 30-minute concert.

State Area Manager Ted E. Felt reviewed progress of the movement and announced dates of future meetings.

C. W. Riggle, president of club No. 3, presented Harry D. Riley of Anaheim as the evening's chairman. "America" was sung by the audience as the opening number, the flag salute was given. The Rev. F. Russell gave the invocation.

ZAGREB PHONES MUZZLED BY YUGOSLAV DECREE

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia, Feb. 10. (AP)—Telephone subscribers here have received a declaration which each must sign if he wishes a renewal of service.

The declaration pledges that the telephone will not be used for transmission of forbidden conversations by either the subscriber or anyone else.

Forbidden conversations are those directed against the state, religion or morals, and against public, personal or economic security.

In addition, scolding, cursing at or arguing with the telephone operators are banned.

Many subscribers are refusing to sign.

Writes Poetry Telling How He Needs A Job

(Attracted by The Journal's articles on welfare and relief, a man brought a poem into the office today. It was written by Bob Carter, who is looking for work, and knows what it means. Although The Journal usually does not publish poetry, it felt this one was particularly timely and offers it for what it is worth. It is given space for its power of appeal in behalf not only of Bob Carter, but of all Bob Carters everywhere.—Editor.)

I tramp the streets from dawn to dark,
Looking for work.
At night I sleep on a bench in the park
And dream I'm looking for work.
I've an old pair of pants and a threadbare shirt
That's dark in color and doesn't show dirt.
My shoes are in tatters; I've a second hand hat.
My coat—well, I guess we won't go into that—
Just say I'm looking for work.

I'm always hungry and often cold,
Looking for work.
I'm only 30, but I feel quite old
With worry, and looking for work.
I have to live in the world, and so
I want to be fit for folks to know.
An occasional square meal, a bath, a shave,
These are the things I really crave
While I'm looking for work.

I'm not a gangster, I'm not a bum,
Looking for work.
I will give good service for a moderate sum;
I'm really looking for work.
I want to step out with my head high-set;
I want to deserve everything I get;
I want to look every man in the eye—
Respect myself more as the days go by;
But, brother, I've got to have work.

delegates to the convention will report tomorrow at a meeting of the assembly in this district at James cafe. The meeting will open at 6:30 p. m. Officers and directors will be elected.

On Candidate Committee

At Santa Barbara the delegates refused to approve the idea of sending anything but an uninstructed delegation to the national convention, said Mr. Sundquist. The candidates committee, of which Mr. Sundquist was a member, voted against an instructed delegation by 24 to 10, and later made the vote unanimous. Mr. Sundquist said today that if any fight develops at the Visalia gathering, it probably will be over the issue of an instructed delegation. The assembly, he said, wishes to cooperate with all groups in the party, but is opposed to pledging the state's delegation to any one candidate.

Albert Launer of Fullerton attended the Santa Barbara conclave as the delegate from the 75th assembly district, while Leslie Kimmel, Laguna Beach, attended as alternate.

ice-locked Tangier island in Chesapeake bay.

A Goodyear dirigible laden with nearly 1000 pounds of food from the Red Cross radioed its hangar here that it had landed, but had been forced to leave the island with 10 sacks of flour still aboard, because of the wind.

Commander K. L. Lange and Pilot V. L. Smith were aboard. In addition to delivering the food they had planned a thorough check to determine the islander's needs.

Yesterday an army bombing plane showered 1000 pounds of food on Tangier.

FEAR THREE LOST ON LAKE MICHIGAN DEAD

CHARLEVOIX, Mich., Feb. 10. (AP)—Searchers for two fishermen and a coast guardsman who had attempted to rescue them from the ice and was swept away with them, expressed grave fear today the three had perished in a Lake Michigan blizzard and gale.

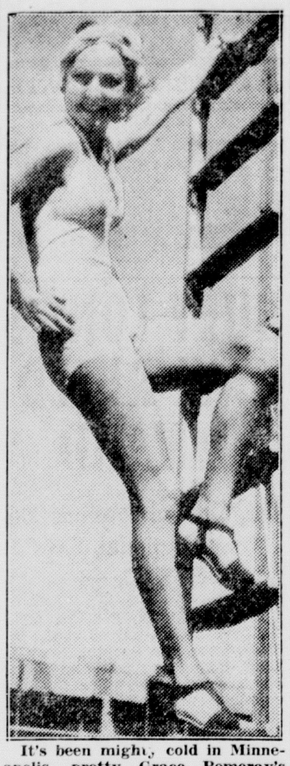

With visibility on the lake limited "to less than a hundred yards," and a strong wind breaking the ice floes into pieces, fellow coastguardsmen said hope that Earl Cunningham and the fishermen, Claude Beardsley, 45, and Clayton Brown, 22, would be found was "remote."

Two other persons trapped for 13 hours in 9 below zero weather in a small boat outside the ice off South Manitou island, were rescued by coast guardsmen.

SENTENCED TO FOLSOM

Earl Courter, charged with second degree burglary, was sentenced to Folsom prison for one to five years today by Superior Judge James L. Allen. Courter had pleaded guilty to attempted burglary of a Huntington Beach rest room, which occurred Jan. 16.

POLICE FINISH 1ST AID WORK

Santa Ana police in the future will be fully equipped to handle any emergency necessitating first aid treatment. During the past few weeks all officers in the department, including Chief Floyd Howard, have been undergoing a course of instruction in first aid work. Their instructor is Dr. James Farrage, Santa Ana.

Wednesday at 1 p. m., 25 officers will be awarded first aid certificates by Dr. Farrange.

Other men on the force are taking the first aid course and soon will be awarded the certificates.

It is Chief Howard's aim to have a department which is 100 per cent efficient in all phases of first aid work. The department's three motorcycles have been equiptrolmen fully educated in their use.

JEROME SEES TAX DANGER

"Unless California sets its own welfare policy, and takes the matters of taxation and government into its own hands, is in danger of being broken flat. We are building up a system we can not support, and will eventually become the asylum and refuge for the nation's incompetents."

With those remarks County Supervisor W. C. Jerome climaxed a report of the recent tax conference called by Gov. Frank Merriam, which he called "well managed from the government's point of view," with an attack on the administration of relief and the federal-state social security laws.

Speaking before the board of directors of the Santa Ana chamber of commerce this morning, Mr. Jerome said provisions of the old age pension and social security law, under which California now is operating, would prove ruinous.

"Under the present set-up, as advanced by the federal government," he said, "a person must only be 55 years of age, and had been a resident of the state for five years, to be eligible for an old age pension. This means in effect that a person can come to this state, maintain himself by hook or crook for three years, apply for state aid for two years, and then automatically become a pensioner and the charge of the state.

"The only way we can keep this whole business from swamping and ruining the state, is for county boards to refuse to set aside funds for the operation of the pension act in their budgets. If there is no money for its operation it must automatically fail."

ARREST DRIVER AFTER CRASH

Two persons were injured and the driver of one car was arrested on a charge of reckless driving as the result of two traffic accidents on Orange county highways this week-end.

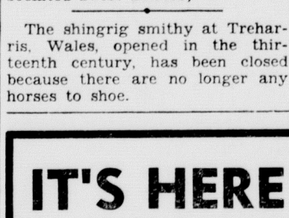

George R. Alloway, 39, of 234½ Rialto street, San Bernardino, was arrested at 6 p. m. Saturday by Highway Patrolman Dan Adams following a collision at Artesia avenue and Manchester boulevard, one mile north of Buena Park. Alloway's car collided with a machine driven by John Monroe Shanklin, 22, Garden Grove. Miss Beatrice Cochrome, 20, Los Angeles, sustained minor injuries in the collision.

Monroe Donham, 208 West Commonwealth street, Fullerton, suffered minor injuries at 1:30 a. m. yesterday when his car collided with a machine driven by Myron Miller, 17, Anheim. The accident occurred on highway 101, north of Anaheim, when Miller assertedly attempted a left turn off the highway as Donham tried to pass him.

HOILES' PLEA SHUNNED BY CHAMBER

Requests to the Santa Ana chamber of commerce by H. C. Hoiles, publisher, to appoint a committee to investigate text books and information supplied in Santa Ana and California schools fell on deaf ears when the board of directors of the chamber tabled the matter this morning.

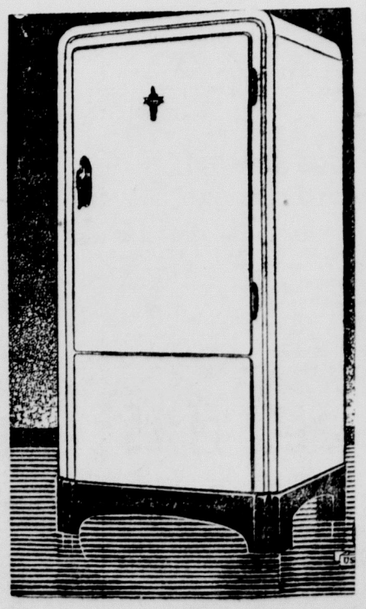

Mr. Hoiles, originally called upon to make a report o fthe governor's tax conference held last week, launched into a discussion of the type of education being dealt through the schools of the state, concluding his remarks with the request that the Santa Ana chamber take the lead in a reform movement.

Mr. Hoiles contended that controversial subjects were not aired in the public schools, and that pupils were given a one-sided "wish-picture" of the modern economic scene. Herbert Miller, while saying that a committee might be appointed, remarked that the average business man did not wish to enter such a discussion. The matter was tabled for further consideration after a spirited talk by Mr. Hoiles.

Mr. Hoiles stated that a widespread campaign to air the economic situation and tax question through the schools is the state's only ultimate hope for a final solution of the question of taxation and government as a whole.

WANTS AMERICANISM

To the Editor: One of the best and most timely things it has been my pleasure to read for some time is an editorial in yesterday's issue of your paper under the caption "Let's Teach Americanism."

It seems to me that in our frenzied seeking of a Moses to lead us out of the wilderness into which we, as a nation, have strayed, we could not do better than get back to the leadership of our own great men—Washington, Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt and those others whose souls were literally fired with a zeal for the good of their country and its institutions. The un-American twaddle and bunk that one hears these days is enough to make them turn over in their graves, ashamed to believe that their fellow-Americans would even tolerate such rot.

I heartily agree with you—Let's Teach Americanism!

Very truly yours,
DAVID T. PRENTER,
Laguna Beach.

PROTESTS 'RED' TALK

To the Editor: As a taxpayer and a loyal citizen of the United States I desire to raise my voice in protest against the utterances of Lewis Browne last Monday night in the First Methodist church of Santa Ana. I can't believe the board of education or the school faculty had knowledge in advance of the nature of his talk or they would not have allowed it.

It seems like a rather weak excuse for the representative of the board of education to say that "the speaker's views were not necessarily those of the school board or the school administration." According to that theory any teacher in the public schools can promulgate any doctrine he or she chooses and the administration need not assume the responsibility of their teachings.

When we as a nation are doing all we can to keep Russian Communism out of the United States it doesn't appeal to red blooded American citizens to have Lewis Browne, or anyone else, deliver such a speech from the pulpit of one of the leading churches of our city under the auspices of the adult education department of our city schools.

'JOE GLUTZ' IS IN CONTEST

He Offers His Rain Guess

Somebody is kidding the rain editor. Or maybe he is just bashful and doesn't want the public to know when he thinks it's going to rain.

At any rate, came a guess in today's mail from one "Joe Glutz," allegedly of 511 East Bishop street, Santa Ana, who says the two-inch rain we've been talking about will begin on Feb. 18 at 2:47 p. m.

For a while we thought maybe there really was someone named "Joe Glutz," after all, and that fable and folk-tale had libelled him for years. But there is no record of a "Joe Glutz," and nothing but a rain guess to attest for him.

The ax of the time element lopped off three more days, as Ted Cox, Irvine; Mrs. King Rutledge, Stanton, and L. E. Rarabough, 629 Garfield, dropped out of the competition. Their guesses were, respectively, Feb. 9 at 2 a. m., Feb. 10 at 2 a. m. and Feb. 10 at 11 a. m.

Enter your guess today. To win the new umbrella offered by The Journal, it is only necessary to name the day and hour on which Santa Ana's next two-inch rain will begin.

Here Are 2-Inch Rain-Guessers And Their Guesses

Those who have entered The Journal's rain-guessing contest and whose guesses have not been invalidated already by the time element, follow, together with the dates and hours they have selected for the city's first two-inch rain to begin:

Grover B. Bacon, 1520 West Sixth, Feb. 11, at 12 noon.
Mrs. E. E. Frisby, 1012 Kilson drive, Feb. 11, at 11 p. m.
Salvador Mendoz, R. D. 4, box 470, Feb. 13, at 9 p. m.
Mrs. Frank Dillon, 1207 Fruit, Feb. 15, 4 a. m.
Bob Davy, 1321 West Eighth, Feb. 15, 2 p. m.
Charles E. Scott, El Toro, Feb. 15, 7 p. m.
Jewel Hinkle, 1816 North Main, Feb. 16, 10 p. m.
John H. Trickey, Orange, Feb. 17, 3 p. m.
Dr. H. J. Howard, 2404 North French, Feb. 20.
N. G. Metz, 1216 North Van Ness, Feb. 22, 3:20 a. m.
Mrs. Grover B. Bacon, 1520 West Sixth, Feb. 22, at 12:30 p. m.
Mrs. E. T. Omailia, 1015 West Fifth, March 13, 4:30 p. m.
Mrs. Pearl Parsons, 721 East Second, March 21, 12 midnight.
Mrs. Gary Cravath, Laguna Beach, July 4, 12 noon.
Alta Arnold, 612 French, Nov. 9, 3 a. m.
Robert Buchheim, route 1, box 43, Santa Ana, Dec. 2, 3:13 p. m.
David Carmichael, jr., 1311 No. Garnsey, Dec. 3, 6 a. m.

Two who lost out today were Edward I. Richards, 1047 West Second street, who guessed Feb. 8, at 2 p. m., and Mrs. J. F. Halloway, 1002 West Pine, who guessed Feb. 7, at 11 p. m.

Those who lost out over the week-end were Ted Cox, Irvine Station, who guessed Feb. 9 at 2 a. m., Mrs. King Rutledge, Stanton, who guessed Feb. 10 at 2 a.m., and L. E. Rarabough, 629 Garfield, who guessed Feb. 10 at 11 a. m.

COUNTY COAST GROUP NAMES EXECUTIVE BOARD FOR YEAR

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's Rambling County Editor

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

DID YOU notice what the composing department did to us the other day?

Right at the end of our column, they'd added a "filler", without putting in the usual cutoff rule.

Which made us slide over from moaning about the flowers wot were blooming in the spring, tra-la, to the price of Patagonian wheat in the market at Ubrskvva, Russia.

It didn't seem to be a bad idea. Next time you won't know whether to blame us or the composing department if our colyum looks like this:

* * *

Stew Strathman, elongated Placentia C. of C. secretary, went to Sacramento with a very respectable mustache. He returned without the adornment. Was heard remarking that he wasn't snatched bald-headed, anyway.

Some pineapples have been known to attain a weight of 17 pounds.

Stew claims that he was shaving and suddenly thought that he might look better without the decoration. Since then there's been a continuous argument among members of his family whether or not he should start cultivating the decoration again, or leave his face as is.

The price of women's shoes, according to some authorities, will be much higher next year, due to advancing leather prices.

Mayor Smith, down at San Clemente, has started doing things again. This time, it's a community-wide "clean-up" week.

Residents are getting tired of seeing discarded automobiles on their vacant lots, and so asked some sort of action by Mayor Smith and his council. They got it.

The city of Oompah, Wis., produces more rubber heels than any other community of like size in the world. City officials are considering an advertising campaign pointing out that other sorts of heels come from their neighboring community, Blurpville, Wis.

San Clemente isn't only planning a cleanup campaign. The bank and the government are going to spend plenty to fix up streets and the clubhouse at the golf course, fix up the greens and do lots of other things, which should make everyone in that community happy.

Production of baby bottles in the United States has dropped off 7.234 per cent since tariff rates on bottle shipments from Sweden have been lowered.

Laguna Beach, it would appear, has started to do something about the angle parking situation.

You'll remember, especially if you've banged up a fender or two, that the state ordered parallel parking on all state highways. Laguna didn't like the idea, apparently. Folks there are still parking slaunchwise to the curb. And getting away with it.

Itinerants attempting to enter the state of California, if laid end to end, would probably go to sleep, according to chamber of commerce figures.

We'll wager that Lagunans will soon be making polite remarks about the parking situation—like they do in Capistrano and Fullerton and Anaheim and other places—when they try to squeeze their cars into a space too small by three feet. They'll get lots of driving practice, anyway.

See where Tommy Bouchy, harbormaster at Newport, is finally going to get a new office.

They're going to build an imposing structure—three stories, isn't it?—on the bay front, where he can see the water, and not the blank face of building.

Scientists investigating habits of the queer Scrambaby, an animal recently discovered in darkest Africa, report that it has feet resembling that of a human, but does not wear shoes.

Where they're fixing Tommy's new office, he'll be able to watch for speeders on the bay and lean out of his upstairs window to hail at 'em to slow down.

Pretty nice for Tommy, what?

The number of county editors to die violent deaths in the past year is liable to be increased within a short time, according to a recent survey conducted in Orange county.

ORANGE GUARD OFFICER TO LEAVE FOR GEORGIA

ORANGE.—Capt. Albert Wunderlich, commander of Co. I, 185th infantry, California national guard, will leave tomorrow for Fort Benning, Ga., where he will attend the United States government infantry school for national guard reserve officers.

Capt. Wunderlich was one of eight guard officers selected from California to receive instructions at the school and is the only man chosen from Orange county. The school will be in session for three months and demonstration troops will be regular army men. Instructors will be regular army officers. During his absence the company will be under command of First Lieut. H. E. Chambers, Orange.

ASSEMBLYMAN UTT SPEAKS TO G. G. WOMAN'S CLUB

GARDEN GROVE.—Discussing high taxes, and purposes of the state income tax, Assemblyman James B. Utt was speaker at a meeting of the Garden Grove Woman's club Friday afternoon.

Starting his talk with the early history of California and the romance of the Spanish conquest he showed where a great part of our present state government was adopted from that brought from Spain by these early settlers.

Most taxation, he said, is directly due to the people generally, because just as rapidly as expenditures are placed on the state, the legislature must find ways of raising the money. Giving his reasons for favoring the sales and income taxes in spite of the fact that he opposed the latter tax three years ago, he said the average person does not stop to consider that many capitalists must and will curtail business, putting probably thousands of men out of work, when the income tax is too high.

The legislature controls only about $50,000,000 of the state budget of $410,000,000 and the major part of this must support the state universities, prisons and hospitals, Mr. Utt said. The largest sources of revenue are the sales, gas and income taxes, he added.

The program included a reading by Miss Jean Schweiss and piano numbers by Miss Katherine Ann McCullah of the Orange county school of fine arts, Anaheim. The program was arranged by Mrs. Genevieve Fording, who with Mrs. C. Ver Jones served as hostesses for the tea at the close of the meeting.

A meeting of the Booklovers' section, Feb. 21 at the home of Mrs. Charles George was announced, Mrs. W. H. Stennett and Mrs. J. C. Farnsworth to be cohostesses. Mrs. W. O. Broady reported on a recent inter-county Garden club meeting.

Crochet Tells an Accessory Story

PATTERN 5525

"Picture hats" are back!—this time with bags to match, and a lovelier set than this just couldn't be imagined! You'll want it for your own when you learn how easily both may be crocheted. The hat with graceful, rolling brim, is just simple crochet. The brim is worked over soutache braid to stiffen it. The bag, too, of simple crochet has decorative lines of rib stitch worked on afterward. It's lovely in a wool and rayon yarn.

In pattern 5525 you will find complete instructions for making the set shown; an illustration of it, and of all the stitches needed; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Santa Ana Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 E. Fifth St., Santa Ana, Calif.

SCOUTS PRESENT PROGRAM

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Troops 1 and 2 of the Boy Scouts, sponsored by the Christian church and the Rotary club, took part in evening services at the Christian church last evening as a part of the annual Boy Scouts' Week program.

On Friday evening almost 100 Scouts from Troop 1 and their parents enjoyed a pot-luck supper at the Scout cabin. Miss Elsie Chambers, head of the visual education department of the elementary school, showed moving pictures taken at the cornerstone setting ceremonies of the new postoffice, of the Sea Scout regatta at Newport and of Will Rogers in "Finding a Parking Place."

Plans were made for a trip to Orange to attend the Orange County Court of Honor Feb. 14 at which time several local boys will receive advancement awards.

B. M. Honold is scoutmaster of Troop 1. Committeemen are City Attorney Ray Overacker, Henry Weidman, Joe Perry, Robert Paxon, Art Henrickson, the Rev. J. G. Hurst. C. S. Warren and Clifford Overacker are assistants.

PAIR MARRIED IN CHURCH

HUNTINGTON BEACH. — Before a church filled with friends, Miss Roberta Williams, prominent social, church and civic worker, was united in marriage to Thomas F. Stipp at the Methodist church at the close of the evening's service last night.

The bride, dressed in a white satin gown with long veil and carrying a bridal bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley, was given in marriage by her father, J. R. Williams. Miss Wanda Stricklin was maid of honor and Miss Frances Hill was bridesmaid. Bill Sweeny was best man and Dick Williams usher.

Mrs. Edna Conrad played the wedding marches. Joe Watson sang, and H. N. Truedson played a violin solo.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Williams of Oceanview and is a graduate of the local high school. Mr. Stipps is a petroleum inspector with the state department of lands, with offices here.

TRANSFER PRIEST FROM CHURCH AT SEAL BEACH

SEAL BEACH.—The Rev. Father Patrick O'Dowd, priest in charge of St. Anne's Catholic church at Seal Beach for a number of years, nas been transferred to the Joan of Arc Parish in Los Angeles. He officiated at his last mass here yesterday morning.

Father O'Dowd was well-known on the coastline here for his many activities with Orange County Coast association.

The Rev. Father Christopher Bradley, from a Los Angeles church, will be the new pastor of the local church.

How Counties In State Got Their Names

The story of how California counties derived their names is an interesting part of the history of the Golden State. Believing that the thousands of tourists who annually motor over the state's great highway system would like to know how the counties they visit came by their names, Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly has had prepared from state records a series of brief stories of the origin and meaning of the names of the counties of California, including a few salient facts about each county.

TRINITY COUNTY

Created Feb. 18, 1850. This is one of the original 27 counties. This county derived its name from Trinidad bay, which was discovered and named by Captain Bruno Ezeta on June 11, 1775, a date that happened to be Trinity Sunday. The Spanish charts of the bay were misleading and Major Reading and others thought that the river he named Trinity entered into this bay.

High mountains, virgin forest, glacial canyons, emerald lakes, swift streams and incomparable scenery make up Trinity county, of which it has been said: "It is a moot point among those who have viewed the Swiss Alps, or the rugged splendor of the Fiords of Norway, whether any more superb landscapes or glorious sunsets reflected from the snowclad mountains can be depicted than those in the Trinity Alps."

The land is so little touched by industrial development that it is almost a virgin country. Of the total of 1,981,440 acres, about 75 per cent is covered by the Trinity National forest, while the Shasta National forest takes in the extreme northeastern tip. Trinity once embraced Del Norte and Humbolt counties. While trappers and hunters had penetrated section of the conuty, it was gold that brought in settlers. They encountered many Indians, most of whom were friendly, but later clashes occured which led up to the Bridge Gulch massacre on Hayfork creek in 1852. Trinity now is the greatest paradise for hunters and fishermen in the West.

Trinity has yielded millions in gold and today, because none of its streams empty into tributaries of navigable waters, hydraulic mining is permitted. Since 1849 farming and stock raising have been successful in favored districts, particularly Hayfork valley.

Tucked away in the Trinity Alps is Weaverville, county seat, 50 miles from a railroad. Befitting its 80 years, the town of 500 inhabitants leads a peaceful existence. In 1850 the population numbered 3000, half of which were Chinese. Here is an ancient Chinese Joss House now maintained by 17 surviving Chinaman. Its drapperies and altar decorations were imported from China 75 years ago. Here, too, is the Trinity county courthouse, built in 1858. Population: 2809. Area: 3096 square miles.

Locusts which cause crop damage running into the millions annually have been turned into profitable use in Argentina by being ground into locust meal fertilizer.

A Few Tips

On Santa Anita

You boys and girls who are chinking in your Santa Anita deuce notes long range (and who isn't risking a two-spot now and then?) may enjoy all of the respective thrills and chills of winning or losing, but you are robbed of all the color of the great sport when you aren't on hand to see your horse (or some "dog") romp under the wire.

Too few of us are able to make the trek to Santa Anita. Two few sports editors get a chance, either, and we're starting a campaign to have The Journal's sports ed. near the finish line every day. It won't work, of course, any more than it would work with your boss, but we'd have no more scratching to do for column news if it would.

Saturday we were one of the 50,000 gullibles who helped set a new track record in betting. Chances are, too, that with the astute help of T. R. (Azucar) Alvord, we set a new peak in unprofitable betting. But more of that later—look around at the fun we had, watching:

Bing Crosby, eyes glued to binoculars, seeing one of his horses, Double Trouble, go to the post looking frisky and then trail the money nags under the wire. Bing looked as though he were accustomed to such goin's on. But wife Dixie Lee, after sending a chunk of greenbacks for a fruitless ride on Double Trouble's nose didn't look so composed.

Maxie (Slapsie) Rosenbloom, heavyweight boxer, night club lion, and lady killer, betting 'em heavy. Worrying over form charts, consulting the crystal ball and using everything but a sextant trying to dope a winner. We didn't see him take a single march to the pay-off window. He looked anything but happy.

Joe E. Brown cracking a gargantuan grin that must have made his movie employers feel he'd been holding out on 'em when Barnsley finished third in the third race. Barnsley is Joe's horse and one of the few movie people's nags to get in the money.

Vince Barnett, the movie colony's practical joker, busy running around giving everyone "tips." He squared off for a bit of by-play with Maxie Rosenbloom, made a face at Joe E. Brown, made the rest of the 49,000 look foolish by sitting on his hands and keeping away from the betting windows.

Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt, owner of Discovery, looking calm when his prize horse finished fifth in the San Antonio. Still, it might not have been A. G. V.; if it wasn't it was some one who looked proud-like at Discovery during the parade from the Vanderbilt box.

Friend Al, who achieved immortal fame by picking Azucar in the first Santa Anita handicap, talked Ariel Cross all the way in the sixth, wavered at the last minute and went for Azucar. We liked Singing Wood, but our guessing had been rotten all day. We laid off. It didn't help any when Singing Wood romped in by three lengths.

* * *

O, yes, for a small sum Al and yours truly will provide anyone with full details on "How to Pick Winners." We found the best method, all right. Pick a horse. Any horse. Then buy a ticket on any other horse in the race. We followed that system—through our blunder—and got our only winner of the day. If you don't like this—the Rogers' Blunder System—try the good old eenie, meenie, miney, mo. It's as reliable as any.

MYSTERY WINS NEWPORT RACE

SAN PEDRO, Feb. 10. (AP)—Mystery, the six-meter sloop of William Bartholomae, won the coveted Newport Harbor Yacht club gabboon, capturing three and placing second in a four-race series.

The races, a prelude to the annual midwinter regatta starting Wednesday, were concluded yesterday off San Pedro.

TRAVELED TEAM

THE GIRLS' basketball team of LaPorte, Tex., high school travels 60 miles a week to practice. School authorities borrowed a gymnasium at Pasadena, 15 miles away, and provided a bus for two round trips each week in order that the LaPorte court sextet may rehearse regularly.

GRAPPLING GREAT

ROBERT LARSON of Fort Dodge, Ia., a 135-pound wrestler of the University of Iowa, hasn't lost a collegiate match in two years. Since he was a sophomore, Larson has won 10 bouts, eight of them on decisions. He was held to a draw once in his first season as a Hawkeye grappler.

By PAUL WRIGHT

Safely over another barrier—San Bernardino—Alvin T. Reboin's basket-hitting brigade plunged into another week of basketball training at Santa Ana Junior college today.

The Dons, with another one of their driving finishes, dusted off Texan Doug Smythe's Battling Braves, 28 to 22, in San Bernardino's auburn-walled pavilion Saturday. Victory sent their titular chances soaring.

Considerable light will be shed on the muddled race for conference supremacy a week from Wednesday night, when Reboin's rollicking quintet hooks up with its ancient rival at Fullerton. The game with the up-county champions, originally set for Feb. 29, has been moved ahead at the request of Art (Lucky) Nunn, Yellowjacket coach.

AL REBOIN
Doing Well

Survivor of the Santa Ana-Fullerton classic will be the people's choice to enter the annual two-out-of-three game championship series with Riverside's Bengals, who appear to be definitely in the play-offs with a clean slate of four consecutive wins.

Fans almost fell asleep during the first 20 minutes of the Don-Indian feud. Members of both fives played as if they were exhausted after a hard week of classroom exams. Slowly, the Orange county junior collegians gained a 6-1 lead which San Bernardino erased before the intermission. Woody Newton, contrary little forward, sank a field goal just as the gun sounded to award Smythe's cagers a 12-11 command.

Fred Scores Eleven

Once behind, it required almost 13 minutes for Santa Ana to regain the lead, 20-18, although the Dons knotted the count at 16-16 in the first 10 minutes of the second period. Fred Erdhaus, center, swished in a long one for Santa Ana, but Bob McDonald of the Braves retaliated with a long toss to make the score 22-20. Erdhaus sank a short shot, and Tommy Lacy pierced the ring from far out, sending the Dons to a 26-20 margin with a minute and 20 seconds to play. Ken Nissley slipped under the basket for a hurried setup, and Newton of San Bernardino made good two charity throws before the game ended, 28-22.

Sensational Erdhaus led the scoring parade with 11 points, two ahead of the flashy Newton of the opposition. Nissley garnered eight, a fine evening's work for a little fellow who had been confined to his home most of the week with the "flu." John Henry, guard, was credited with the prettiest shot of the game, a highly-arched beauty from mid-court that chalked up Santa Ana's fifth and sixth point. Leonard Lockhart contributed some fine floor work, as usual, but was limited to two points. Ordinarily he scores from 10 to 15. Lacy accounted for five.

Compton Friday

The Dons may play a team from Whittier here Wednesday night. They draw a bye in the Eastern conference this week, but perform at Compton Friday.

Saint Nine Makes Debut Against L. B. Here

Gould Finds Catchers Vary In Two Major Leagues

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—For some reason current baseball rosters show that catchers in the American League are much more durable while those in the National pack a heavier punch.

With backstops capable of averaging 100 games a season generally in the minority it's noteworthy to find six American Leaguers in this class on the basis of 1935 records.

Only Cleveland and Philadelphia lacked a 100-game man. Only three National League catchers worked in 100 games last season.

Mickey Is Best

Mickey Cochrane, who combines managing the world champion Detroit Tigers with a major share of the backstopping, has the best record of any receiver in either big league for durability. Mickey has appeared in more than 100 games per season for 11 years in a row. He will tie Ray Schalk's record if he adds another "century" to his collection, which he expects to do.

Cochrane's nearest rival is Gabby Hartnett, burly slugger of the Chicago Cubs, who passed the 100-game mark last season for the tenth time. Gabby also was the leading sticker among the catching regulars, with a mark of .344, one point higher than Ernie Lombardi of the Cincinnati Reds.

Virgil Davis of the St. Louis Cardinals, who will double up this spring while Bill Delancey is on the shelf, and Gordon Phelps picked to replace Al Lopez with the Brooklyn Dodgers, are other heavy hitting backstops on the National League list.

American League catchers make up in class what they lack in fence-busting ability. Cochrane's all-around play with the Tigers made the difference between a fourth place club and a pennant winner. Dick Ferrell of the Red Sox, who caught 131 games last year, is one of the smoothest workmen behind the bat. Luke Sewell was one of the main reasons for the excellent showing of the White Sox and Rollie Hemsley's comeback, under Rogers Hornsby's tutelage, was one of the sensations of 1935. Both caught over 100 games, Hemsley's total of 141 being tops in either league.

Dickey Routs Worry

Bill Dickey has been jinked repeatedly by injuries but when he is in shape the New York Yankees have no backstopping worries. Cleveland, badly handicapped by weak catching last season, hopes little Frankie Pytlak has recovered his health sufficiently to handle the No. 1 job.

Washington has a slow but hard hitting young catcher in Cliff Bolton. The Athletics probably will replace the aging Charley Berry with the strapping Frank Hayes, recalled from Albany, for first string duty.

The New York Giants rely on Gus Mancuso, who caught 126 games and had a good year in 1935. The aggressive Lopez should be the solution to Boston's long standing problem behind the plate. Pittsburgh obtained Al Todd, from the Phillies, to share the receiving with Tommy Padden. Earl Grace meanwhile has been shifted from the Pirates to give Manager Jimmy Wilson of the Phillies a hand on the receiving end.

LONG BEACH VIRGINIANS UPSET LOCAL GOLFERS

Impressively turning the tables on their Newport boulevard opponent, the Long Beach Virginians outpointed Santa Ana Country club's golfers, 46 to 29, in team play over the Long Beach course yesterday. Santa Ana's women players also lost, 4 to 1.

The victory was a striking upset inasmuch as Santa Ana swamped the Virginians, 53 to 10, in a recent match on the local links.

JIM WILKINS RECOVERING FROM FLU

Woodrow Wilson Brings One of Best Clubs Here Tomorrow

Heralded as the best prospects the Long Beach prep school has boasted since 1932, Capt. Leonard White's Woodrow Wilson Bruins will be favored to overpower Santa Ana High school in exhibition baseball on Poly field at 3:15 p. m. tomorrow. The contest inaugurates the training grind for both clubs.

Coach Clyde Cook of the Saints will field a tentative lineup containing five 1935 holdovers, but the former Washington State hurler is not expecting too much of them tomorrow. His charges are sadly in need of practice.

Wilde on Sidelines

Shortstop Bobby Wilde, student body president who earned his letter under Cook last spring, will be on the sidelines with a wrenched knee. Last week he aggravated the injury which slightly handicapped him in '35. Jack McClure, regular first baseman, also will be missing. Out with injuries the first semester, Big Jack will be ineligible until '37.

Jimmy Wilkins, who was Willie (Black Boy) Jones' understudy last year, has been recuperating from the "flu," but may be able to hurl three or four innings for the Saints. Norman Wyckoff, Lewis Olivas and Joe Ortega also will be given a brief trial on the mound.

Erwin Youel, Saint football captain and basketball star, will hold down the first sack, formerly occupied by Trojan Curt Youel, brother, who will coach at Santa Monica Junior college in September. Erwin probably will lead off, Mr. Cook said.

Batting Order

Harvey Hemphill, 2b; Ray O'Campo, ss; Harold Jessee, 3b; Minoru Nitta, lf; Joe Kadowaki, cf; Art Nieblas, rf; Duane Teel, c, and Pitcher Wilkins are slated to bat in the order named. Dependable Jessee of '35 has taken on more weight, and should be a standout this term.

Santa Ana has a return game with Woodrow Wilson on the Long Beach diamond a week from tomorrow.

ARCADIA WHIPS ANAHEIM, 6-2

Clarence Peterson paid dearly for a poor start at Arcadia yesterday, when he allowed the Merchants' nine of that community to collect seven hits in the first two innings to decision Pete Lehr's Service of Anaheim, 6 to 4.

Peterson settled down and hurled effective ball in the next seven frames. He fanned 10—three in one inning. Schultz, San Francisco Mission product, limited the Anaheim cohorts to eight hits. Lehr's played well defensively, coming up with three double plays in three successive innings.

Gordon, Santa Ana Boy, Goes To Card Farm

Glenn (Babe) Gordon, six-foot, 180-pound son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd S. Gordon, 320 Cypress avenue, Santa Ana, has been signed for the Riverside trial camp of the St. Louis Cardinals opening tomorrow.

Gordon was one of 15 players who made good at an inspection camp in Fresno last week. Young Gordon was judged the fastest of 223 recruits who competed up north. He hit above .300.

The Santa Ana youth is slated to be farmed out to Martinville, Va., of the Five-State league, or to Springfield, Mo., for schooling in preparation for a chance with the Sacramento Senators. Most of the 15 rookies will be sent out to clubs in the Cardinals minor league organization of lower classification than the Sacramento Coast league outfit.

Home for a visit with his parents, Gordon will leave for Riverside either today or tomorrow. He will train at Evans park, now equipped with a new diamond and other ground facilities.

ST. LOUIS BLUES TOPPLE BREA

One of the best speedball merchants to appear in Sunday baseball here, the St. Louis Blues' "Poison" I. V. Barnes limited the opposition to six hits while pitching his all-colored nine to a 6-3 victory over the Brea-Merchants at Brea-Olinda yesterday.

Pinch-hitter Joe Harce, subbing for Woody Griffith in the ninth blasted a triple with the bases drunk to score Brea's three runs, and to save Skipper John Nash's Merchants from a whitewashing.

Negro Barnes baffled most of the Brea swingers with his blinding speed, but Terry Griffith, ace second-sacker, found the colored boy's offerings to his liking. He collected three hits in four trips to the platter.

LOCAL NETTERS TRIUMPH, 7-3

Dominating singles and doubles, Santa Ana Tennis club's racquet-wielders scored an impressive 7-3 victory at Redlands Saturday, and three of their members survived early rounds of the Fullerton invitational yesterday.

Darkness forced the second set of doubles between Redlands and Santa Ana's combination of Marvin Jacobs and Tom Rippey to be called off, after the locals had won the first set, 6-3.

Toby White, Bob Peacock, Fred Wiemer and Young Jacobs triumphed in singles. White and Peacock, Gil Ward and Wiemer, Jacobs and Rippey won in doubles.

Lewis Wetherell, Kenneth Ranney and Miss Marjorie Lauderbach survived first-round eliminations in the Fullerton invitational.

Men's Singles

OLYMPIC SKI HONORS WON BY FINNS

Brundage Clashes With English Officials Over Eligibility

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Feb. 10. (AP)—Finland snared its first title in the fourth Olympic games today as the hockey contingent, definitely settling its heated eligibility row in Great Britain's favor, arranged a second round robin series for the eight survivors of the first eliminations.

The Finns won the 40-kilometer ski relay—four men running 10 kilometers each—in a hair-raising finish with Norway second and Sweden third. The United States quartet never had a chance and finished 11th in a field of 16.

The suspensions meted out to James Foster and Alex Archer, British hockey stars, definitely were withdrawn at the request of Canada but not without a heated verbal exchange between Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee, and P. Nasser Hunter, British delegate.

When Brundage asked if, "in view of Canada's sporting action," Great Britain intended to use the players, Hunter sharply declared that "whether England chooses to use her players, now, is her business, nobody else's."

The draw for the second round-robin series put America in the easier half—against Czechoslovakia, Austria and Sweden.

QUALIFIERS

BRAWLEY, Feb. 10. (AP)—Qualifying rounds in Brawley's annual "lettuce tournament" continued today, with a field of 293 amateur golfers striving to get into match play later this week.

40-kilometer ski relay—Won by Finland, two hours, 41 minutes, 33 seconds; second, Norway, 2:41:39; third, Sweden, 2:43:03; fourth, Italy, 2:50:05; fifth, Czechoslovakia, 2:51:56; sixth, Germany, 2:54:54.

Unofficial team scores (on 10-5-4-3-2-1 basis):

Germany, 97; Norway, 37; France, 11; Switzerland, 10; Finland, 10; Sweden, 4; Italy, 3; Czechoslovakia, 2; Great Britain, 1.

BILL SLEDGE FACES STAN PINTO HERE

Ex-Circus Man Becomes Sentimental Favorite Over 'Meanest Man'

Brute strength meets plain brute in tonight's wrestling show at the Highway 101 arena as Milo Steinborn, onetime circus strong man, strives to bring joy to the hearts of the faithful followers of the mat extravaganzas by taking on Dick Daviscourt, all-time "meanest man" of Orange county wrestling activities.

Daviscourt has had a bloody reign as monster of the arena here and with each appearance gets himself farther into disrepute. But he wins wrestling matches consistently, and there are those who will reel off the old chant for you: "All's fair in love, war and rassling."

Steinborn Popular

Steinborn, a popular prelimary hero, has only a Chinaman's chance to lick the vicious Daviscourt, erstwhile California heavyweight champion, but he will have a generous portion of the vocal support. No man since the hectic nights of Wee Willie Davis has been so hated by the customers as Daviscourt; there has been no rabble rouser like him in local performances since Ernie Dusek. Indeed, the Daviscourt man, who has held Sandor Szabo to a riot-inciting draw and who has handed Herb Freeman his only Pacific coast defeat, combines in a broad-minded way all the tactics of these two famous fiends.

Using a back-breaker called the "bear hug," Steinborn has come out winner in about all of his performances for Sam Sampson. In defense of his promotion to the main event it must be said that 99 per cent of those Steinborn has wrestled here have been far below him in ability, offering little opportunity for colorful display of the famed Steinborn circus stuff.

Recently he held Daviscourt to a 20-minute draw in Los Angeles. Tonight, win, lose or draw, Steinborn will at least provide Daviscourt with some terrifying moments and if he isn't choked into unconsciousness—which is Daviscourt's customary procedure—he may come up with a draw. Certain it is that he can slip out of any hold Daviscourt knows. When it comes to brute strength Steinborn has a mile-wide edge. But the edge in plain brutality must be given to Daviscourt.

Sledge Meets Pinto

Bill Sledge, a classy and clean youngster who held Daviscourt to a one-hour draw here last week, takes on Stanley Pinto in the semi-final. Sledge shows a liking for fast, scientific grappling, but when it became advantageous to toss gravel, Sledge is in there pitching.

Saturday's Derby Grabs Santa Anita Spotlight

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 10. (AP)—Three-year-olds grabbed the play away from older favorites today in the running of the $1200 derby trial at Santa Anita park.

Nine classy horses, all entered in the $25,000 Santa Anita derby next Saturday, were named for today's mile event. They were A. A. Pelleteri's Ttennob, P. M. Pike's Jubilee Jim, Mrs. Vera Bragg's Pompey's Squaw, the Brookmeade stable's Indian Broom and Prank, Mrs. Silas B. Mason's He Did, the Middleburg stable's Wha Hae, Mrs. John Hay Whitney's Savernake and the Northway stable's Toration.

Time Supply moved into top consideration by his easy win in the San Antonio handicap last Saturday. Pompey's Pillar finished second, Ariel Cross third, Rosemont fourth and Discovery, A. G. Vanderbilt's odds-on favorite, was fifth.

Discovery came out of the race sound, and observers blamed his defeat on the 138 pounds he was forced to carry over the mile and one-furlong distance.

Jockey Johnny Bejshak never used the whip on Discovery, apparently figuring if the race couldn't be won the easy way it needn't be won.

WORD USAGE TO BE TOLD ON KVOE

How do you pronounce and what are the correct pronunciations of such common words as "gladiola," "ally," "incognito," "carburetor," "arctic" and "ignition"? What are the past forms of the verbs "prove," "plead," "sing," "swim," "hang" and other commonly used verbs?

These will be demonstrated in the first of this series of "Wayward Words" broadcasts to be made by Ralph C. Smedley, general secretary of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. and founder of the local and nation-wide Toastmasters' clubs, and scheduled from KVOE every Monday at 5:30 p. m. as one of the four adult education broadcasts now scheduled at that hour during the week.

"English as she is spoke" will be analyzed from a different angle by Mr. Smedley, who will point out common errors, what their effect is upon others who hear us when we use incorect English, and how a few, simple rules of study will make the mastering of the language easier than it would seem otherwise.

Music on the Air

There'll be band music on the air with the feature program at 6:45 tonight on KVOE. Tunes to be included are college songs, march numbers by Sousa and others which have proved to be favorites.

A particularly delightful presentation of familiar, favorite songs will be offered by the Sterling Male chorus on the "Musical Moments" program, at 7 o'clock tonight, augmented by popular tunes by the orchestra.

Featured songs by the chorus will include "'Way Down Yonder in the Corn Field," "I've Been Working on the Railroad," "Mandy Lee," "Steamboat Bill," "Nelly Was a Lady," "Goodnight, Ladies' and "Merrily We Roll Along."

The orchestra will play a special ryhthm arrangement of "Barcarolle," "Green Eyes" and "Moon Over Miami."

"Calling All Cars"

A factual story from the police records of yesterday bearing the title "Knives on the Barbary Coast," will comprise tonight's dramatization of "Calling All Cars!" at 7:30 o'clock.

The setting and time of the story is the still colorful waterfront of San Francisco in the year 1900. The story is of one Luis Gomez, a young fellow who visited San Francisco with a yearning for adventure and the ability to throw a knife exactly as he wished.

Curtis Once Tried to Turn From White Man's Ways and Become Reservation Indian

TOPEKA, Kas., Feb. 10. (AP)—Charles Curtis, former vice president who died Saturday, once attempted to turn from the ways of the white men and again become a reservation Indian.

He was one-eighth Kaw Indian, and until he was 10 years old he lived on their reservation with his grandmother.

As a boy he loved the tribal life of his Indian kinsmen. After his grandmother had sent him to Topeka to school, he once went back to the reservation, having tired of the white man's ways.

He was induced, however, to return to start the career which took him near the White House.

A descendant of Chief White Plume of the Kaw tribe and of French and English ancestors, Curtis, at 10 years of age, went on the war path for the first time when bloodthirsty Cheyenne Indians surrounded the reservation of the peaceful Kaws in Morris county, Kansas.

He took the very path which the Cheyennes were using and, slipping through their lines, ran 60 miles to Topeka to tell the white soldiers about the plight of his people.

The soldiers reached the reservation in time to drive away the Cheyennes.

Five years after he had saved the Kaws from their enemies, Curtis left their reservation to take up the ways of the white men.

Operators of Mouse Game Cinch to Win

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 10. (AP)—Police have about decided the mouse game isn't a gamble—it's a cinch.

The game works like this: A mouse is put in a box in which 12 holes have been drilled. If he chooses any hole but No. 1 you win. But he always chooses No. 1.

Police became interested. They learned the mouse had been trained that way. And to keep him from forgetting the hole was baited with cheese.

What is reported to be the largest electric Diesel motor rail car in the world was completed recently by the German national railways.

Radio Roundup

TONIGHT'S PROGRAMS

By HOMER CANFIELD

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS JR., at one time one of Hollywood's most-in-demand actors, has been spending his time these past two years playing before British cameras. In England his histrionic abilities have received fully as much attention as Hollywood had accorded.

Now in New York, the young son of Doug makes his first appearance in a full-length radio drama, "The Bride the Sun Shines On." (KHJ, 6)

NELSON EDDY'S return to the "Voice of Firestone" concert also stands out among the evening's offerings. For the past month the tall, blond singing star has been on a concert tour through the middlewest. (KFI, 8:30)

In returning to Radio City, Eddy sings for the first time this season with William Daly's orchestra. His appearance in New York also brings to an end Margaret Speaks transcontinental commuting.

Heretofore Eddy has been broadcasting from Hollywood, and Richard Crooks, his alternate, from New York. Miss Speaks, who co-stars with both, has been flying back and forth by plane.

Because of other engagements, William Daly has been unable to make the almost weekly trips to California.

VIRGINIA VERRILL is coming home. It isn't only homesickness for California that prompts her to leave New York. A three-year contract with the Columbia movie-makers has more than a little to do with it.

Personal appearances in and around New York will keep her there for at least eight more weeks.

"Vee" recenly completed a part in "Sweet Surrender" and six movie shorts.

PROBE THEFT OF CABLE, CALF

Deputy sheriffs are investigating theft during the past week of 300 feet of 600,000-centimeter aluminum feeder cable belonging to the Pacific Electric company. The theft was reported late Saturday by W. M. Slater, company official. According to Mr. Stater, the cable, which was strung between poles on the Pacific Electric line near Huntington Beach, had been cut and hauled away.

Deputies also are nivestigating the slaughter of a 200-pound calf, the property of Henry Belt, Trust and Seventeenth streets. Yesterday, Mr. Belt found the head and hide buried on his ranch.

PLANS AUTO CURFEW

WARSAW (AP)—A plan to inaugurate a curfew for automobile horns is being considered by Warsaw officials following many complaints about too much noise at night.

SUPERVISORS TO HEAR FARM BUREAU RECORDER PLAN TUESDAY

JAPAN POLICY RAPPED BY PITTMAN

Senator Urges Stronger Navy, Air Forces to Protect 'Rights'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Declaring Japan intends to close the door of China to America "even if war is necessary to accomplish it," Chairman Pittman (D., Nev.) of the senate foreign relations committee today advocated naval and air forces "sufficient to protect" United States "rights."

Hurling criticism at Japanese policy on the senate floor, the prominent administration man spoke of treaties "openly and ruthlessly violated." He referred to what he called Japanese "threats," "propaganda" and "arrogance."

China Peaceful

"China is still an independent sovereign government, at peace with the world, and desirous of trading with us," he said, "and there is nothing in the circumstances that can legally, or long physically, interfere with such trade."

Because of his high position at the head of the senate committee dealing with international affairs, his speech was regarded as certain to attract world-wide attention.

He called upon congress to "take cognizance" of the island empire's policy toward China, and "its intended effect upon the United States."

"Three Pacts Violated"

Pittman declared Japanese armies' conquest of Manchuria "was in violation of the covenant of the League of Nations, the Kellogg-Briand pact to outlaw war, and the nine-power pact."

He asserted that in asking congress to study the eastern question, he had in mind that "congress alone has the power and the duty imposed upon it to appropriate money for the national defense."

Pittman quoted a Japanese writer as saying America "is ready to renounce her traditional principle of the freedom of the seas."

"Well," the chairman declared, "the United States does not intend to surrender the freedom of the seas and recognizes no jurisdiction in any government on the high seas beyond the three-mile limit in time of peace."

FACES MORALS CHARGE

John Barker, 24, Brea, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace K. E. Morrison Saturday and held under $500 bond. His preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday at 9 a. m. Barker was arrested in Brea and booked at the county jail late Friday by Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey.

Woman Too Large to Enter Hospital Through the Door

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (AP)—Sarah Jackson, 66, suffered a heart attack and it was necessary to move her to a hospital. She weighed 350 pounds, and egress through the door was impossible.

A police emergency squad knocked out a window and lowered the elderly woman three floors in a sack.

Husband of Santa Ana Girl Went to Panama As Lad for 2 Months; Stayed 31 Years

By VIRGINIA SMITH

He went for two months, but he stayed 31 years.

That's the attraction Panama has had for John M. King, who left Saturday with his wife, daughter of Mrs. Anna Belding of East 17th street, on the S. S. Kongo Maru, for the trip back to his post in Panama, after a two-months' vacation in Santa Ana.

Ready for adventure, he was a young man of 18 with a bulge of a wanderlust, when he walked up the gangplank in 1905, bound on his first trip for Panama. He was engaged as a stenographer for the Panama Railroad.

Two years later he went into the employ of the Isthmian Canal Commission which later became the Panama canal in 1914, where he is at present in the quartermaster's division of the supply department of the United States government.

Accent Had Charm

Evidently a southern accent had its charm back in the early 1900's, too. For the young man, who hailed from South Carolina was successful in his courtship of Irma Belding, daughter of the late W. M. Belding, first master builder of the Panama Canal, who afterwards established a home in Santa Ana. Competition was keen for the charming young American girl, one of few white women to risk dangers of "roughing it" in the early days of construction.

When she went with her parents into the states, he followed her and they were married in New Orleans in 1909.

"I've been pretty lucky," remarked Mr. King when asked if he had been ravaged by the fevers of the early days. His stocky strong-looking body seemed to bear out his good health.

Early Memories

Early memories of the canal construction have as one of their headliners for Mr. King the remembrance of the late President Theodore Roosevelt speaking at Cristobal in 1906. (The word, in King's parlance, is Cris-to'bal.)

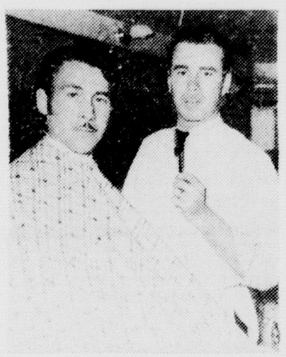

Mr. King has five years' service before he will be retired by the government. Mr. and Mrs. King then plan to establish a home in Santa Ana. Their two sons are attending schools in this country at present, John, the elder, at Duke University in North Carolina, and Robert W., at Cal-Tech in Pasadena.

Their ship will land at Balboa. From there they will go across the Isthmus on the Panama railroad to their home in Cristobal, arriving there Feb. 16.

HIKING FALLS KILL ONE, INJURE TWO

LOS ANGELES.—Falls on hiking expeditions in Southern California mountains brought death to one man over the week-end, critical injuries to another and bruises to a girl student. Tumbling 1000 feet from a slippery trail in ice house canyon, Samuel Richsteiner, 23, San Gabriel, was fatally injured. Roy Boetz, 17, CCC enrollee, fell from a cliff in Big Tujunga canyon, and was critically hurt. Edna Temple, 15, Los Angeles, was injured above Camp Baldy.

AMATEURS IN 1ST TRYOUT TONIGHT

More Than 50 Already Entered for Big Ebell Nursery Event

More than 50 entrants in the amateur contest being sponsored through the Assistance League of Los Angeles, for the benefit of the Santa Ana Ebell club day nursery, will enter the first trials tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Ebell clubhouse.

Gil Patric, in charge of the amateur tryouts and show in Santa Ana, announced today that entries for the events are coming in rapidly, and that the show, to be given on Feb. 27, 28 and 29, gives every promise of being an outstanding event.

Two auditions similar to tonight's will be held prior to the show itself. Winners of the final contests will be entered in the All-Southern California show to be held in Los Angeles. Winners of the Los Angeles revue will be given stage, screen and radio contracts, according to Mr. Patric.

Among the many types of entrants already received, the executive committee, including Mrs. Mortimer Plum, Mrs. R. C. Hoiles and Mrs. D. K. Hammond, announced, are tap dancer, soft shoe dancer, eccentric dancer, trumpet duo, artistic whistling, vocal trio, classical pianist, tenor, double quartet, saxophonist, harpist, violinist, and a hill-billy orchestra.

Registrations are being taken daily from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., at the National Theatrical Association's offices, 421 North Sycamore street.

87TH BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY FETED

Today she "put out" her washing just as usual, but yesterday she was a lady of leisure, on her 87th birthday anniversary!

Mrs. Fannie Newman, center of the celebration, is entering upon her 87th year with the happiest state of mind. Last evening she attended services as usual at the First Methodist church. A former Iowan, she has lived in Santa Ana for 20 years.

Her children are Mrs. Barney Knudson, Mrs. Mamie Gibson, and Frank Adams. Her granddaughter, Miss Frances Knudson, brought her a pretty bouquet yesterday.

Sharing the festivities were Mrs. Mitchell, Miss Jose Thomas and Mrs. Mamie Gibson. A birthday cake was served.

GIRL RESERVES INSTALL TONIGHT

Tri-Y officers of the Girl Reserves will be installed tonight at services in the Y. W. C. A. with induction of Helen Lowe to succeed Maxine Knight as president heading the list.

Reports will also be given from delegates who attended the mid-winter conference at Pacific Palisades over the week-end.

Others who will take office are Roberta Nichols, vice president; Josephine White, secretary; Betty Neff, treasurer; Helen Hicks, program chairman; Gerry Peck, social chairman; Norma Are, service chairman; Audrey Barnes, devotional chairman; Maxine Knight, ring circle chairman.

Assistants will be Jacqueline Morrison, membership; Ruth Budd, finance; Phyllis Krock, program; Helen Rowell, social; Ellen Cozad, service; Peggy Paxton, devotionals.

'Hamlet' Causes Furore in Capital

"Hamlet," not Shakespeare's play but a 180-pound Great Dane owned by W. Forbes Morgan, secretary of the Democratic national committee, caused such a furore in Washington that even congress was almost forgotten. Morgan and his wife (upper left) were summoned to the corporation counsel's office on the complaint of 19 prominent neighbors in an exclusive district that "Hamlet" was attacking them and their dogs. Upper right, "Hamlet" himself. Below, left to right: former Representative E. Hart Fenn of Connecticut, who said his dog was attacked; Mrs. Lawrence "Chip" Robert, wife of the former assistant treasury secretary, who defended "Hamlet," and Joseph Tumulty, former secretary of President Wilson, the defense attorney. PLAY IS GIVEN SECOND TIME

Gathering momentum with practice, Santa Ana Community Players fairly whizzled through their second and last performance of "Cock Robin" Saturday night in the Ebell clubhouse.

Gladys Simpson Shafer, director, built up the second and third acts to a point where they moved swiftly and easily to the climax in which J. Leslie Steffensen, as director of the play-within-the-play, confesses to the murder of "Cock Robin," and Gertrude Horn as his super-efficient secretary, refuses to testify against him, thus protecting him against punishment.

Leland Auer's junior college trumpet quartet played between acts. A good crowd was in attendance.

SIX ARRESTED HERE ON VAGRANCY; CHIEF GIVES WARNING

Santa Ana police Friday night arrested six asserted transients and booked them at the county jail on charges of vagrancy. One of them, Mixon Blackwell, 42, Louisiana, said he had been in Santa Ana for two years. He was arrested at the Santa Fe stockyards. The other five had been in Santa Ana three days or less.

Chief of Police Floyd Howard said today that all indigent transients will be arrested.

"We intend to make it so tough for transients in Santa Ana that they will go around the town instead of coming in," Chief Howard said. "These men will be held in the county jail until we can check on them to see whether or not they have past records. After a few days, they will be released and ordered out of town."

Exterminators of Bugs Are Not Taken Seriously

FRESNO, Feb. 10. (AP)—The public, it seems, will not take seriously the problem of the California Association of Exterminators and Fumigators.

M. G. Jorgenson, of Los Angeles, president of the newly-formed structural pest control board of the state department of professional and vocational standards, told 150 delegates to an association convention here this weekend of the difficulties encountered with the 1935 legislature in getting through a bill to set up the board and regulate the extermination industry.

"They called us bug killers," he said, "and our bill the bedbug bill. The senators squirmed in their seats and scratched their chests as our representatives talked.

"The people look upon the situation in fun. They fail to appreciate the real seriousness and the noble motives of this perpetual battle of men against death."

CONSOLIDATION OF COUNTY FARMING CENTERS SOUGHT

Consolidation of the activities of Orange county farm centers and a clear definition of duties of center officers will be achieved by the adoption of a set of rules and regulations for center officers outlined and adopted last week by the farm bureau.

H. J. Hinrichs, Orange, chairman of the farm center presidents forum, will be in charge of the work of finally preparing the outline. The project was originated in the presidents' forum.

SPENDS COLD NIGHT IN WARM CHURCH

There is nothing quite so comfortable as a nice, warm church. However, when someone enters a church by using a passkey and then turns on the heaters to warm the place up—all without being invited—then it's time to do something about it.

On Friday Dr. James Farrage, member of the vestry of the Episcopal Church of the Messiah, told police that someone had entered the church with a passkey and had turned on the heaters. He said he believed the person had been a transient and had spent the night there.

UNITING OF OFFICES TO BE URGED

Organization Seeks to Have Big Delegation On Hand at Meeting

When the board of supervisors meets tomorrow to name successor to County Recorder Justine Whitney, a delegation of farm bureau members is scheduled to appear with a resolution urging that no one be named to this position. Instead, the group will advocate consolidation of this office with some other department of the county government.

Roland D. Flaherty, executive secretary of the farm bureau, has sent letters to every member of the organization, urging them to attend tomorrow's session of the supervisors. The program sponsored by the farm bureau for consolidation of other county offices also will be outlined. The bureau has requested the supervisors to make a study of the formation of county government with a view to as much consolidation as possible, for economy reasons.

Mr. Flaherty said today he hopes a large delegation of farmers will be on hand to press the farm bureau program or discuss possible alternatives with the board.

The recorder's office will become vacant March 1, when Miss Whitney's resignation will take effect. She resigned following a jury's verdict that she was guilty of misconduct in office.

HERE'S RECIPE OF PRODIGY

Father of Genius Tells It

CHICAGO, Feb. 10. (AP)—Ruth Slenczynski, 11 years old, hailed on both sides of the Atlantic as a wonder child at the piano, today heard her father describe her as a deliberate attempt to produce a musical genius.

After the Polish-born father, Josef Slenczynski, a violinist, returned to his adopted America from the World war wounded, he said he realized his own active musical career was ended.

He deliberately determined, he said in an interview, to marry and have a child who should "carry on" under his teaching. The qualifications he sought in a prospective mother included:

Mother's Requirements

1. She should be sturdy and healthy that the child might have strong hands, wrists, lungs and heart he deemed necessary for a strenuous musical career.

2. She should be non-musical, or at least not musically trained, as he intended to have charge of the child's education.

3. She had to be a non-career woman, content with home and children.

4. And she had to be a good cook.

He said he found this combination in a New York stenographer of Polish descent, who became Mrs. Dorothy Slenczynski. Ruth, named for Slenczynski's mother, was born in Sacramento, Cal.

Highlights of Career

The father enumerated the highlights in the career of the sturdy, dark-eyed youngster as follows:

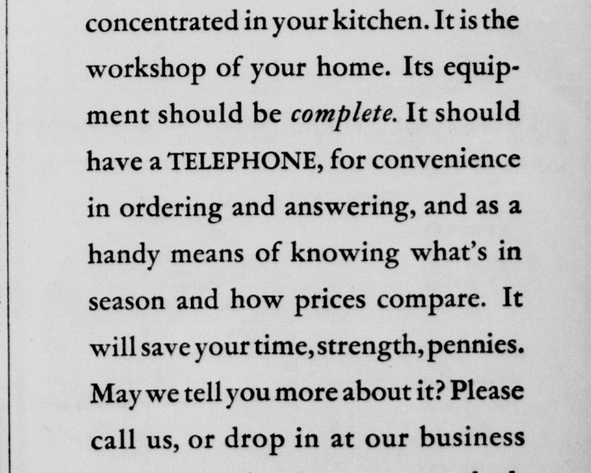

She knew the rudiments of harmony and theory at the age of three.

She made her debut in Berkeley, Cal. (now the family home), the next year.

At her debut in Berlin she was six; in Paris, seven, and in New York, nine.

She is now on her third American tour. Last month she played with the Metropolitan symphony.

She finished grammar school grades at seven years under private tutors. She speaks French, German and English.

Miss Louise Vance Exchanges Vows With William H. Gray in Lovely Rites

Family Home Setting For Wedding

90 Relatives, Friends Present; Reception Given Afterward

In the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Vance at Tustin Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, their daughter, Louise, exchanged wedding vows with William H. Gray of Antioch, with 90 relatives and friends in attendance and the Rev. W. S. McDougall of Fullerton, retired Presbyterian minister, officiating.

The couple stood before a fireplace banked with greenery. Miss Vance, given in marriage by her father, wore graceful white satin, high-necked, long-sleeved and entrained.

Veil Is Heirloom

Her tulle veil, a family heirloom, was worn 14 months ago by her sister, Mrs. G. O. Bixler (Charlotte Vance), who served as her matron of honor. The bride carried gardenias and white rosebuds, and a handkerchief given her by Mrs. Perry E. Lewis. She wore also a heavy gold bracelet given her mother by her mother.

Mrs. Bixler and Mrs. Charles Logan, attendants, were in yellow taffeta, semi-formal, and carried yellow sweet peas. Jacqueline DeLong and Jeanette Ehman in yellow taffeta were ringbearers, and Charlotte Kirk in green georgette over yellow satin carried the rose-petals.

Mr. Bixler was best man.

Mrs. Craig Leland and Robert Lawson, soloists, were accompanied by Mrs. Sam W. Nau, who played the wedding marches.

Travels in Gray

Afterward, a bride's cake and ices were served at a yellow and white-appointed reception table at which Mrs. J. H. Vance and Mrs. W. E. Otis served. Assisting were Mrs. Wyckoff Hoxie, Mrs. Perry Lewis, Mrs. Carl Newman, Mrs. W. D. Baker and Mrs. A. A. Ehman.

The bride's traveling costume was a smart gray suit with blue blouse and other accessories in gray. She and her husband left for San Diego and Palm Springs, thence to go to Antioch and make their home. She attended Tustin High school, Occidental college and the University of Missouri.

Mr. Gray is a graduate of the University of Dakota and Harvard Business school and is employed by the Coast County Gas and Electric company.

IRVINE PARK SCENE OF MERRY PARTY FOR LELAND FINLEY

Irvine park rang with laughter as Leland Edward Finley, five-year-old son of the Leland A. Finleys of Greenleaf street celebrated his birthday anniversary at a picnic his parents gave for him, yesterday.

While young Leland was scooting down slides with his cousins, Mrs. Finley's brother-in-law, Lynford Hess of Ventura county, whose birthdate is the same as Leland's, celebrated more staidly.

At the close of the steak bake, a big birthday cake with candles for the two celebrants was sliced and shared.

Present were the Leland Finleys and Leland and Gail, Santa Ana; the J. R. Coffins of Balboa, and the Lynford Hesses and family and the Thomas Anthony Robertsons and their family, all of Ventura county.

THRILLING LINEUP SET FOR SPRING AT COMM. PLAYHOUSE

Two American premieres by three internationally famous playwrights feature the announcement of the Pasadena Community Playhouse spring play season.

The first American showing of Elmer Rice's new play, "Not for Children," will be the season opener, Tuesday, Feb. 25, continuing through March 7. Bound to excite national comment and review on its premiere at the Playhouse, the play by the noted author of "Judgment Day" and "Street Scene" uses the striking expedient of providing its own commentators.

"Laburnum Grove," mystery-comedy success of the past season in New York, is slated for March 10 to 21. Playwright J. B. Priestley has crammed an equal amount of laughs and thrills into "Laburnum Grove" and topped all with a surprise ending.

The second American premiere will be "Hollywood Holiday," a collaboration from the brilliant pens of John Van Druten and Benn Levy. Considered equally brilliant as its noted predecessor, "Once in a Lifetime," the play satirizes the motion picture business. "Hollywood Holiday" will be produced from March 24 through April 4.

A fitting climax to the spring season will be the Playhouse showing of "Queen Victoria," a thrilling tribute to Her Majesty written by David Carb and Walter Pritchard Eaton. According to historians, "Queen Victoria" carries more of authenticity than any previous writing in play form. April 7 through 18 are the dates set for it.

"A Glass of Water," final production on the Playhouse winter season, will conclude its run Saturday, Feb. 22.

THEY'LL ASK FOR SECONDS AT DINNER WITH THIS MENU!

"Ma, can I have some more ham roll?"

You'll hear that from the juniors of the family—and dad, too, if you learn to make the family dinner on the bill of fare at tomorrow's free public cooking school beginning at 2 o'clock in the Southern Counties Gas company office on West Second street.

Rosamond Hannah plans for the dinner to make and explain about stuffed ham roll, baked whole oranges, baked sweet potatoes, jellied vegetable salad, cornbread, choc-o-nut cake (calculated to put the family in rhapsodies), coffee, milk and toasted oatmeal cookies for good measure.

CASTANETS TO CLICK AT ENTERTAINMENT

Castanets, gay dances and haunting music will feature the Spanish dinner and entertainment scheduled for Wednesday evening at the Laguna Beach Community club.

Mrs. Martha DeAhna, known in Laguna circles for her splendid cooking, will prepare a Spanish dinner. A musical program with Spanish music followed by a dance and card party is planned.

Reservations may be made at Rankin's drug store or at Mrs. Carrie Warren's shop.

BARBARA DUNTON GUEST OF HONOR AT PRETTY TEA

Miss Barbara Dunton, bride-elect of Paul Hales, was feted Saturday afternoon at a pretty springtime tea given by Mrs. R. G. Tuthill and Mrs. Joe Knox in the Huthill home on Victoria drive.

Peach blossoms and spikes of blue delphinium centered the pink and white tea table at which Mrs. George Dunton and Mrs. D. J. Howell presided. The guests knitted or played cards.

Guests includes Mesdames E. D. White and Taylor Thompson and Misses Beatrice Granas, Ruth Baker, Barbara Crawford, Georgina Irvin, Dorothy Gowdy, Elaine Hatch, Medora Smith, Katherine and Louise Sexton, Helen Wilkie and Marian Hawk.

LUNCHEON MOTIF FOLLOWS VALENTINE COLOR SCHEME

Tables were set with red and white in the valentine motif when Mrs. R. E. Steinberger, president of the Spurgeon Parent-Teacher association, entertained her board at a luncheon last Friday at the home of her mother, Mrs. Albert J. Bowen, 810 South Birch street.

A floral centerpiece of red geraniums with white narcissus had white candle-holders, set with red tapers, on either side. Valentines were favor-placecards for each guest.

Following the short business meeting, the group admired the original paintings of their hostess, Mrs. Bowen.

Others present were Mesdames Helen Smith, O. Z. Robertson, F. D. Corey, L. N. Sherrard, H. M. Spears, R. D. Flaherty, James Mahoney, W. A. Patterson, N. B. Cash, J. K. Givens and Harold Wahlberg.

DANCING GROUP MEETS FOR PARTY IN MIDDLETON HOME

A group of children who study ballroom and tap dancing together had a dancing party and tripped the light fantastic Saturday evening in the Kent Middleton home, 1213 South Van Ness street. Mrs. Middleton and Mrs. Rufus G. Bond hostessed.

Later, dessert was served.

In the group were Mrs. Mary Katherine Harper, Eugenia Bond, Barnett Swearinger, Ralph Gulledge, Shirley Edgar, Gale Middleton, Homer Chaney, jr., Harry Bruff, Earl Prumer, Richard Williams, Norma Doss, Velma Williams, Mollie Maloney and Doreen Wausson.

Betty Burnham Wedded In Church

Miss Betty Burnham was married to James Martin Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Campbell, 930 Lacy street, in a lovely ceremony yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Church of the Messiah. One hundred guests attended. The Rev. W. J. Hatter officiated.

The bride wore a white satin princess gown and a tulle veil held in place by a Juliet cap of pearls. Her bouquet was gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. E. J. Kotlar of Santa Paula, matron of honor, wore blue lace. Other attendants were Miss Louise Sartor in leafy green, and Mrs. Stella Finley in rose chiffon. Each carried a Colonial bouquet.

Ed Kotlar was best man. Ushers were Ray Hill and Charles Davis.

A reception for 50 guests followed at the home of the Charles Campbells.

The bride wore a gray ensemble with violets when she left with her husband for a wedding trip to Palm Springs. They will return to live in Santa Ana. Both are employed by Carl Mock, realtor.

MRS. MYRTLE STULL FETES BIBLE CLASS

Bible class members, taught by Mrs. Iva Webber at the Richland Avenue Methodist church, were guests Friday night at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Stull, 514 South Ross street, at a pot-luck dinner party.

Games were played during the evening. Mrs. Roy Bogardus was elected president; Mrs. Hubert Boake, vice president; Mrs. E. G. Warner, secretary; and Mrs. Eva Obrien, treasurer.

Others present were the Rev. O. W. Reinius, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Croyle, C. W. White, Mrs. Catherine Sherris, Mr. Boake, Mrs. Bessie Booth, Miss Harriett McGilliard, Mrs. L. E. Kneeland, Roy Bogardus, Mrs. Rule, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Concklin, O. T. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Veale and E. G. Warner.

EIGHT CANDLES TOP VIRGINIA HEAD'S BIRTHDAY CAKE

Eight tiny candles topped the birthday cake which Virginia Head cut at the party her mother, Mrs. Mel Head of Tustin, gave for her in the family home, Saturday afternoon. Later, cake and ice cream were served at a table gay in pink'n white appointments.

Guests included Virginia Lee Eckley, Jackie Townsend, Bob Russick, Jean and Dannie Head and Yvonne Lucas.

MARDI GRAS TO BE U. D. C. SUBJECT

Glimpses through history at the colorful Mardi Gras of New Orleans will be given by Mrs. Guy Miller at a meeting of Emma Sansom chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, Thursday at 2 o'clock.

The group will meet at the home of Mrs. E. C. Martin, 1176 East Chestnut street.

D. U. V. OFFICERS WILL NOT PRACTICE

Officers of Sarah A. Rounds tent, No. 10, Daughters of Union Veterans, will not hold their regular practice this week.

A valentine exchange will feature tomorrow's meeting at 2 o'clock in the M. W. A. hall.

Church Rites Unite Young Couple

Wedding rites for Miss Dolores Gunther, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Gunther, 361 South Glassell street, Orange, and Winston Roby, Santa Ana, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Roby of Barstown, Ky., were read yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in St. John's Lutheran church, Orange, by the Rev. Kenneth Ahl, assistant pastor of the church.

The bride wore white lace over ivory satin, with fingertip veil, and carried an abundance of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Miss Maxine Struck, maid of honor, wore arbor green satin with matching satin muff and turban.

Other attendants were Mrs. Ernest Unzelman, gowned in tea rose satin; Miss Lucille Meyer, in bois de rose satin; Miss Esther Bandick in rose colored satin, and Miss Martha Unzelman in ashes of roses satin. All wore matching turbans and carried muffs. Little Lois Bosch was flower girl.

Best man was Lieut. Allen Roby, San Diego, cousin of the bridegroom. Ushers were Nelson Struck, Ernest Unzelman, Walter Gunther and Stanley Hardin. Two solos were sung by Miss Lois Trost, accompanied on the organ by Eugene Wunderlich, organist of the church, who also played the wedding march.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the Walker Memorial hall for 100 guests. For her traveling costume the bride wore an all-gray tailored suit and gray accessories. She was graduated from Orange High school in 1931.

The bridegroom was educated in Kentucky, and is employed by a Santa Ana department store. The couple will decide where they will make their home, on their return from their wedding trip.

Chatter of Doings at Laguna Beach

By MAXINE STOREY

Castanets will click and gay colors reign supreme when members of the Community club hold an elaborate Spanish dinner and dance in the clubhouse Wednesday evening. Guests will sit down to a real Spanish meal which Martha DeAhna, famed for her Spanish cooking in Laguna circles, will prepare. Follows a floor show, entertainment with Spanish dances, and a dance. Those who don't care to tango will play cards in the card room. An especially good turn-out is expected since the affair will net money to the very popular Community Players and the entertainment promises to be "tops."

Glimpses of Lagunatics who saunter about town on these quiet sunny winter days . . . Gus Baldwin and Ralph Frost, jr., discussing the newly formed kite-flying committee . . . Vic Rankin and Frederic Tipping in a serious Greek history conversation over a before-dinner glass of sherry . . . Leora Shopshire and Marjorie Cochran walking side-b'-side down the main street with interested friends stopping them intermittently to admire the tiny babies in blue carriages . . . Junior Doud taking "time off work" to do a bit of horseback riding in the hills . . . Valerie Sutton about town for a few days from Long Beach way . . . Patricia and Jack Andrews, Dick Riggs and Brian Edwards cocktail-ing at newcomer, Jane Shaw's beach cottage . . . Bill Kirk, former Tustinite, writing that Alabama U. is the "greatest college in the world" . . . Betty Perrin here-to-thereing during the week-end with Johnny Strohl of Hollywood and Ontario . . . K. Perrin busily breezing about town to make arrangements for the opening of his new office on the boulevard . . . Lester Collins intent on a discussion about the Lewis boat and the Coast Patrol . . . Mary Kate Snyder talking spring fashions in Jimmy Boyd's shop on the highway . . . Mary Herrick dashing across the street in a smart maroon colored suit . . . Lois Gill not quite sure what husband, Jimmy, would think of the new permanent and short hair . . . and Bill Inloes hurrying beachward Sunday with two large fishing poles.

Congrat's to Bill Walters who, it was announced by the Red Cross this week, has passed his state exam qualifying him to be official examiner for the Santa Ana Red Cross in Laguna. Bill will examine all applicants for senior life-saving tests henceforth. Last year he was lifeguard at the treacherous Diver's Cove. Have seen him perform some thrilling rescues.

Bridge-lovers turn their interest these days on the Duplicate Tournament which has been running at the community club for some 30 sessions. The tournament is nearing its close now with only four more sessions to be played. Charles Jester and Marie Garth lead the two sections with Carrie Warren and Florence Otterson runners-up. Each Thursday evening some 50 gather at the club to table-to-table and enjoy a social as well as serious bridge session. Last Thursday eve Grace Helm, Claude Bronner, and Mr. and Mrs. John Neal finished high in their various sections and consequently won the dinners given away each week.

Random flashes: Hear that John Hughes, former director at the Playhouse in Laguna, is working at the Columbia broadcasting station in San Francisco . . . he and Ariel write that they have a very lovely red-headed girl added to the family and have named her Sandra . . . Understand that Dean Benton has skipped from studios in Hollywood long enough to play the lead in "Captain Applejack" at the local playhouse; Bill Williams is understudying him in case a "quick call" comes . . . Paul Robeson, frequent Laguna weekender and director of "Calling All Cars" program will send out a road show of the popular KHJ program soon . . . and probably the largest crowd this winter attended the Woman's club meeting Friday at which Captain Don Wilkie spoke to a fascinated audience on "Ethiopia."

"Can it be the trees that fill the breeze with rare and lovely perfume?"

Yes, say Garden club members and park and tree board committeemen these days as they work daily on plans to plant carob trees on Legion street. Members were sorry to hear this week that chairman Miss Ann B. Mason had resigned due to illness. A hard worker, Miss Mason was the most staunch booster of the "tree lovers' committee."

C. C. Henshaw will take her place with C. E. C. Burnett assisting him and Legionnaire Gene Douglas also cooperating. The trees, which grow to a height of 40 feet, will be planted 50 feet apart all along the street and should improve the now barren appearance immensely.

Snatches of coming club meetings: Tomororw, Business and Professional Women meet at 420 South Coast boulevard; time, 7:30 p. m. . . . Elementary P.-T. A. meets at the Grammar school Wednesday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock . . . Literary section of the Woman's club to gather before the marine room of Hotel Laguna Friday evening. Important! says the president.

Business Gives the Claim to the Wife, Advises Reader in Reprimand to "Terribly Unhappy"

By MARY STODDARD

Look to your business ethics, is the charge of today's letter to "Terribly Unhappy." If the girl knows the standards of civilization, she will realize that law, decency and the other dictates of society give all the odds to the wife, declares this reader. Her letter follows:

Dear Mary Stoddard:

I understood that "Terribly Unhappy" was a business woman. I wonder if she has ever stopped to take a businesslike view of what she is trying to get. Laws were made to force unfair people to play square with others. She is trying to get something outside the law and wants to be happy at the same time.

Decades ago people learned that "jumping a claim" was a dangerous risk. Everybody knows it is useless to try to hold something to which another person has a clear title.

Here is "Terribly Unhappy" who surely would know enough not to try to obtain possession of another woman's land or her house or her car or her money without giving a fair return, trying to take a woman's husband and a child's father without offering them a fair value. The wife entered into a legal marriage contract with her husband, invested her youth and time and effort. The fact that she has kept her agreement in good faith is evidenced by the fact that the husband does not claim that he has grounds for divorce. He has cheated—but he makes no claim that his wife has.

Consider the Child

The child has a right to the father's companionship now and to respect him always. "Terribly Unhappy" wants to take the father and husband and let the child and the wife be "terribly unhappy" in her stead.

The trouble with "Terribly Unhappy" is that she lives in an ego-centric world. Why doesn't she emerge from her self-pity and work out a constructive scheme which will offer fair value to the wife and child for the man she wants to take?

He Has No Right

Probably the man has never asked the wife for a divorce knowing that he has no just ground for breaking the solemn contract that he made. Why should he? Probably he respects and trusts his wife, who has played square with him. Does he trust "Terribly Unhappy?" He couldn't because he has found out she is a person who will take what she wants if she can get it regardless of other persons' rights. Does he respect "Terribly Unhappy?" You might get that impression from sexy movies. Do the claims of sex supersede all other claims? In Hollywood, perhaps. In any barnyard, yes. In an average community of sane, fair, wholesome people, NO!

"BUSINESSLIKE."

HERMOSA STAR OFFICERS HAVE DINNER PARTY

Hermosa chapter, Eastern Star executives shed official dignity Saturday night to go with their trailers to a pot-luck dinner party planned by Miss Henrietta Bohling, worthy matron, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford G. Lewis, Tustin.

Small tables had been spread with paper covers and set with napkins to match. Bowls of flowers were used throughout the house.

In the play of auction, Benjamin Livesey and David Meyer won prizes for men, and Mrs. R. H. Seaber and Mrs. Livesey for women. Mr. Seaber took the special award.

Present were Messrs. and Mesdames Neal Beisel, Cyrus Lurker, Harold Wahlberg, W. F. DeWolfe, J. F. Jacoby, R. H. Drake, Pliny Chapin, W. R. Goodrich, David Meyer, R. H. Seaber, Benjamin Livesey, Cedric Jones, John Swanke, Mesdames Margaret Rear, J. Edmund Snow and Etta D. Sweet, Miss Mary Beth Hill and the hosts.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY SAID TO SANTA ANAN

"Happy birthday" for J. Arthur Anderson, 1416 North Parton street, provided an excuse for Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and their son, William, and Mrs. Blanche Martin of Monmouth, Ill., to pack up Friday evening and go to Silverado canyon.

They had a pleasantly idle weekend stay at their mountain cabin.

AAUW Group Planning Affair

"What shall I do after I graduate from jaysee?"

Guidance as to future educational activities of Santa Ana Junior collegiennes who'll be graduated in June will be offered at an early spring tea which the recent grads' group of the Orange county branch, American Association of University women, will give Wednesday, March 11, from 3 to 5 o'clock in the Joseph Metzgar home on Bush street.

Mrs. Albert S. Paine is working on plans for the tea, along with Miss Geraldine Cole, leader of the recent grads, Mrs. Lawrence Minge (Evelyn Metzgar) and Mrs. Calvin Flint, who is planning a musical program for the afternoon.

Arrangements will be discussed by the hostess group at Thursday evening's meeting of the A. A. U. W. in the Y. W. C. A. rooms. Mrs. John Tessmann is to present a program on the history of A. A. U. W.

ADVANCE DATES SET BY V. F. W.

Two February dates were set by the Ernest Kellogg auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Friday night at their meeting in the K. of P. hall.

A pot-luck dinner and dance will be given in the K. of P. hall next Friday as a public affair. Attendants are to wear costumes in the valentine motif.

Mrs. Anna McCleary at 1213 West Fourth street will be hostess to the all-day covered-dish dinner meeting Feb. 20.

The refreshment committee last night included Juanita Cozad, Vera Pope and Edna McCleary.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women

Why should women garden?

Mrs. George Seba: Personally I love beautiful surroundings, and I like to make them beautiful myself. Also it is most relaxing, and when I wor in a garden I forget my troubles. Gardening is a very useful hobby.

Mrs. Otto Ristow: It is a healthful exercise, and good for the disposition too. Anyone gets more satisfaction out of a bouquet that she raises herself, than one merely bought at some flower stand. Flowers give a great satisfaction, and when one has a garden, are always there ready for cutting.

Matron eKeps Cost Low, Figure Slim With Marian Martin Frock

PATTERN 9769

Who of us wouldn't accept a bargain—and slenderness—if both were offered in one queenly gesture? Yet that's exactly what Marian Martin is offering in pattern 9769, a style which gives a size 48 the much-wanted slenderness and comfort she seeks, without forfeiting one iota of the youthfulness and charm that a 16 demands. Easy all-in-one yokes and sleeves do away with tedious fitting, while a straight-line center panel gives the more matronly figure the illusion of height. Easy to make, and easier still to don, it's a style that suggests itself for any of the printed, checked or striped cottons or wash silks. Complete, diagrammed Marian Martin sew chart included.

Pattern 9769 may be ordered only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards 36-inch fabric.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address, the Style Number and Size of each pattern.

Send for our new spring pattern book, and take the guesswork out of planning and making your new clothes! Its many smart, practical designs will show you new ways to look your charming best, new ways to use the latest spring fabrics, new ways to stretch your budget. Special flattering designs for stout figures. Patterns for the whole family. Price of book 15 cents, book and a pattern together, 25 cents.

Send your order to The Journal, Pattern Dept., Santa Ana, Calif.

STEELS HELP STOCKS GO FORWARD

U. S. Steel Co. Reports Gain Of 60,000 Tons In Jan. Shipments

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (AP)—Prices in today's stock market edged quietly forward under the leadership of steels and specialties.

Share gainers up to a point or more included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Republic Steel, Du Ponts, Standard Oil of New eJrsey, Howe Sound, Coca-Cola, Consolidated Gas, Northern American, Public ard Oil of New Jersey, Howe Union Pacific and Delaware & Hudson.

Cotton firmed and gains were inclined to ease. Bonds were steady. The dollar decovered in terms of leading foreign currencies.

Constructive interpretations were placed on the report of U. S. Steel Corp. showing an increase of nearly 60,000 tons in January shipments of finished steel products over the previous month. The total was the best for any January since 1931.

Bullish influences were seen in expanding bank clearings, freight car loadings and electric power production. Extremely cold weather was taking its toll in several lines while bringing improvement to others.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (AP)—Steel stocks jumped into lead in today's market, major issues in this group establishing new five-year tops with gains of 1 to 3 or more points.

In other departments advances ranged from fractions to a point or so. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 2,550,000 shares. Closing prices:

The Gaumont-British picture corporation reports 1935 was the most profitable year in its history, the success of British films in the American market being a notable feature.

An authority writes that life begins at 40. But how many women are willing to begin?

Well, there's one thing very few women CAN begin at, shopping via the ads in The Daily Journal being the fixed, profitable habit it is!

They Aim To Get Their Man

The outstanding leadership in the North American continent's war against crime is represented in this picture, showing Sir James MacBrien (left), commander of the Royal Canadian Northwest Mounted Police, and J. STATE WINS GOLD BULLION

Man's Claim Is Discarded

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 10. (AP)—The third district court of appeal has awarded to the state two bars of gold bullion, which were found eight years ago cached beneath the basement floor of the old Sacramento bank.

The bullion, valued at about $7,100, had been claimed by Castro Arrata, operator of a hotel and dining room, and the court decision affirms a judgment given by a Sacramento superior court.

Arrata claimed he purchased the bullion from a miner in Jackson named Porres for $4,000 and had attempted to sell it to a bank. When the bank refused to buy it he left it with a special officer of a bank. Later he and another man buried it under the basement floor, he said.

The appellate court ruled that regardless of the history of the gold, the fact remained that no one made a demand for it during the five years after it was seized by the state and, therefore, it should escheat to the state.

ROSELIND SCHILLING GUEST OF HONOR AT SORORITY MEETING

Miss Roselind Schilling, soon-to-be bride of Lee Hasenjaeger, was feted at a gay valentine shower of coronet crystalware at the latest meeting of Sigma Tau Psi sorority in the home of Miss Marge Berkner on Riverside drive. Miss Fern Berkner shared in the hostessing.

Bridge was played, prizes going to Miss Alice Majors and Mrs. Ralph Jenkins. Red cellophane and silver ribbons tied the prizes.

A huge red-wrapped white box containing the shower gifts was placed before the honoree in the dessert hour. Red and silver streamers canopied the ceiling. Candles twined with hearts on silver strands were used in appointments along with dainty linens.

Guests included Mrs. Fayette Birtcher, Mrs. Edward Sugden, Mrs. W. W. Barnett, Miss Mary Emil Majors, Miss Genevieve Glover, Miss Betty Rowland, Miss Jean Rowland, Miss Harriet Chapin, Miss Bethel Dickenson, Miss Dollie Cox and Miss Jewel Thebean.

It Wasn't Her Handwriting, So He Wanted a Divorce

By FRANCES TIPTON LONG
Noted Authority on Charm and Personality

A certain young man answered a matrimonial advertisement in a newspaper and received a charming letter from a young lady. He knew something of the science of handwriting analysis, so he carefully studied her writing and decided that she possessed a most charming personality. He arranged a meeting, the two fell in love, and were married.

But the young bride never let her husband see anything of her handwriting, explaining that she had hurt her hand and the doctor had advised her not to use it for several months. She used a typewriter for her correspondence. But, one day she typed a post card. She forgot herself, signed it with her own natural handwriting, and gave it to her husband to mail.

Would you believe it, it was not the handwriting sent to the young man before their marriage! It was entirely different. The young man was astounded. He knew at once that he had not married the charming girl who had written him such interesting letters. He confronted his wife and accused her of being an imposter. She confessed that, because her own handwriting was so ugly, she had paid a chum to write the letters at her own dictation.

The husband, feeling that he had been deceived, rushed to court to secure a divorce. Fortunately, the judge was a logical and understanding man. He reasoned that the deception was not really so bad after all, because the young pair really loved each other and the bride had not actually intended to deceive her suitor. And, after studying her real handwriting, the young man decided that her personality was even more charming than that shown by the original letters penned by her chum.

Personality—Not Prettiness

This interesting incident proves a very important point: No matter how "ugly" your handwriting, you may have the most charming of personalities and the highest character. As a matter of fact, the more strongly developed your individuality, the less likely is your handwriting to be as neat and pretty as the copybook. Personality and charm are not revealed by perfect penmanship but by other and more complex signs that only the expert can find.

The two handwriting specimens today both reveal excellent personalities, yet one script is pretty and the other is not. In this respect, handwriting is like life itself. You have doubtlessly met many people who immediately impressed you with their charming personalities yet who, by no stretch of the imagination, could be called beautiful or handsome. The outward appearance is important, of course, but the inner heart and soul is important, too.

People are often hesitant in asking me for a charm analysis of their personalities because they are ashamed of their handwriting. They should not be. The "prettiness" of the writing has nothing to do with an analysis. So, if you are interested in acquiring greater charm, in learning the secrets of character and personality that win friends, popularity, happiness and success, yes and romance, too, write to me today.

Use the special coupon printed on this page, but be sure to fill in every line and to follow the rules exactly.

you all will like.

A so-called "ugly" handwriting. It shows independence, pride, emotionalism, aspiration, constructiveness and determination. The virile appeal is best suited to this writer.

Science of handwriting
interpretation is very interesting
Irene Dunne

A sample of "pretty" handwriting. Reveals quick thinking, idealism, kindliness, sympathy, affection and sincerity. The appeal of cordiality is revealed by this writing.

P.-T. A. FOUNDERS TO BE COMMEMORATED

Founders' day will be observed by the Woodrow P.-T. A. tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the kindergarten room of the school.

The speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Neal Beisel, will speak on the subject, "Realizing the Hopes of our Founders." W. L. Hall, supervisor of music at the First Presbyterian church, Santa Ana, will sing a group of selections, with Mrs. Leslie Steffenson as accompanist. A playlet will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Harry Becker.

Plans will be completed for organizing a study group from the community to receive instruction in first aid.

WYOMINGITES VISIT FAMILY IN SANTA ANA

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edwards of Laramie, Wyo., are spending an eventful month visiting their relatives in Santa Ana. Mr. Edwards is vacationing from his duties as an engineer with the Union Pacific railroad.

They are visiting his mother and sister, Mrs. Lulu Edwards and Mrs. Ada Roberts, 1040 West Fifth street, and his brothers, Everett and Ray Edwards, also of Santa Ana.

ETHIOPIA TOPIC OF WOMAN'S CLUB

"Ethiopia" was discussed by Capt. Don Wilkie at the Laguna Beach Women's club luncheon meeting at the clubhouse Friday afternoon.

In his talk, the speaker sketched the history, characteristics and customs of the Abyssinians, pointing out that their tactics in "Guerilla warfare" eventually would beat down the Italian invasion. He told of the difficulties the Italian army would encounter in their trek over the arid deserts, precipitous mountains and dangerous paths. Captain Wilkie's talk was received with much enthusiasm.

Mrs. Malinda Woodward spoke on current events, devoting much of her time to anecdotes about the late king of England and the new reigning king. She pointed out the fact that English leaders are exceptionally well trained for their positions and expressed the desire that women's clubs throughout America would cooperate to demand only the highest educated and trained men in offices of American government.

The literary section of the club will meet Friday afternoon.

HEARTS AMUSE McKINLEY P.-T. A.

Collecting hearts was not fashionable for McKinley P.-T. A. executives and oom mothers at a valentine party last Friday night at the home of Mrs. Elmer Christensen, 1002 West Third street.

The group played the game of hearts and the holder of the lowest score, Mrs. N. T. Franklin, was awarded the prize.

A valentine exchange completed the program. Light refreshments were served by a committee including the hostess, Mrs. A. G. Delgado and Mrs. Paul Webb.

Others present were Mrs. Floyd Mitchell, president of the P.-T. A.; Miss Mary Andrews, principal of the school; Miss Beryl Hatch, Mesdames Cecil Wilson, Faber Bray, M. Kelchner, John State, J. F. McWilliams, A. Garthe, Herbert Hildebrand, Yyette Humphrey, H. M. Whisennan, Dale Elliott, Charles Clark, Donna Ward and J. A. Gajeski.

FRITZI RITZ — A New Treasure — By ERNIE BUSHMILLER

BUCK ROGERS, 25th CENTURY A. D. — Comes The Crash — By PHIL NOWLAN and LT. DICK CALKINS

Alma Whittaker, society girl in the little town of Burntwood, falls in love with Johnny Anthony, a nobody who turns up from nowhere. He seems to be in love with her but, because of some mysterious secret in his past, flings up a barrier between them. When Alma's father goes bankrupt, Johnny does all in his power to help her, but still draws the line at offering her his love. To spite him, she lets him think she is going to marry Sig Borndike, rich young banker, and he leaves town. Actually she goes to work in the dye department of a mill, where, after several months, she perfects a valuable new formula. Roy Carryall, president of the Burntwood bank, who had been instrumental in forcing her father into bankruptcy, comes to her laboratory and makes her an offer for the formula.

CHAPTER XXX

Bill Sands moved cautiously out of the shadows in one corner of the laboratory.

"Look here, Tommy," he said to Alma, "are you going to let that smooth old bandit whistle you out of this formula of yours? Don't you know that, if he'll pay two hundred thousand for it, it must be worth a lot more?"

Alma smiled. "Do I look as if I weren't dry behind the ears yet? Roy Carryall isn't fooling your side-kick one bit, even if he does think he's pretty smart!"

"Don't forget what he did to your Dad," Bill reminded her.

"Do you think I'm likely to forget one single fragment of it, after I've had to see Dad a pauper—the humiliated dependent of my high-handed domineering Aunt Harriet? Have you forgotten that I closed the door on my former life and came down here to fight my way up in order to make up for what they did to him? Don't ask me what I'm going to do, Bill—I don't know myself. But don't make the mistake of thinking I've forgotten, or that I'm ever likely to forget!

Bill reached out a quick, friendly hand to grip one of hers.

"I'm sorry," he blurted. "I guess I'm pretty thick. And whatever you've got up your sleeve, I'm for you to the last grim ditch!"

"Thanks, Bill," Alma said unsteadily. "You've been a grand friend all along!"

He moved away hastily, as if in sudden panic over emotions he was afraid might betray him, and Alma turned back to her work bench. Before her mind's eye there flashed the vision of another man voicing the same sort of loyalty and friendship—the vision of Johnny Anthony's grave face as, in a voice hunky with emotion, he had said things she would never forget.

"Johnny," she whispered. "Am I never going to find the way to forget you?"

The laboratory faded away before a marching procession of memories and, in sudden panic, she grabbed her beret and jacket and started home, walking briskly in an effort to escape her thoughts.

After supper, she slipped into her little roadster and, driving slowly down West Hills avenue past the house that had once been home to her but was now dark and empty, she stopped before the home of Christopher Gordon, the district attorney, climbed the steps and rang the bell.

A pleasant-faced maid admitted her and ushered her into the living room. In a few minutes, Chris Gordon appeared, entering the room briskly.

"How do you do, Miss Whittaker!" He beamed, shaking hands warmly. "I've wondered how you were making out! Things any better with you now?"

"Burntwood's a small town, Mr. Gordon. I imagine you know as much about my affairs as I do myself!"

He laughed. "Well, I know you've been putting up a game fight—and winning points, too. I hear you've perfected some new kind of formula."

"That's what I came to see you about," Alma said. "The company expects to buy the rights to it if the patent goes through all right, but meanwhile, I've had an offer from another quarter.

"A rival concern?"

"No," said Alma. "A local group of business men. They offered me two hundred thousand in stocks and the return of my old home, though they began the dicker with a flat fifty-thousand dollar bid."

"Carryall and his outfit?" Chris Gordon said. "Not in the name of the bank, Miss Whittaker?"

"That's what I want to make sure about," Alma explained. "I thought you could help me. I want to get to the bottom of this offer of Carryall's—see just what he's up to. I've a hunch there's something crooked about it. And if there is, I want to find out and expose him. And I want to find out all the ins and outs of his dealings with my father."

"You've come to me about this at a strangely opportune moment." Chris Gordon laughed grimly. "The bank examiner was in my office this afternoon. He's got about a dozen counts against Carryall and his gang. Believe me, they're going to squirm when they're called upon to account for their high-handed juggling of the bank's affairs for their own personal gains!"

"You mean," Alma said slowly, "that the bank is closed because its affairs are being investigated?"

"Exactly!"

Alma sighed deeply. "Then you can help me?"

"I most certainly can," Gordon declared emphatically. "I'm going to call in a New York lawyer to help on this. It's a case that will interest him. I'll get him on the long-distance wire right now if I can."

"Person-to-person call to Mr. John Anythony Tayne, jr!"

He turned and smiled at Alma, who had suddenly paled.

THREE WASTES OF TIME

NOBODY "does anything" about the weather, as far as we know, except the citrus growers. When occasion demands, they heat it up a bit with their smudge pots.

There are several other highly important matters that nobody does anything about. And though these are of direct interest to all of us, we simply don't even try to remedy many costly situations.

We refer particularly to our calendar, our measuring system and our spelling. All of them, obviously, need drastic reform. We would save ourselves endless bother and expense by changing them, yet we all go along year after year using the outworn tools of a bygone day.

The calendar is highly illogical. It has one month of 28 days (except every fourth year when it has 29), several of 30 and the rest of 31. At least half the population never can remember which is which. The quarters, important for purposes of business comparison, are of varying lengths, and so are the halves. The months begin on different days year by year, and the holidays swing through puzzling cycles.

Scientists have perfected a calendar that corrects most of these and some other difficulties, and probably in the dim future the nations will adopt it. In the meantime, we go muddling along with an imperfect one.

Every student of mathematics or of science knows that the metric system should be adopted to replace our absurd arrangements of pints, quarts, inches, feet, bushels, etc. In a few fields it is being used more and more, for instance, in some of the more important track and field meets. A great many headaches and a vast amount of time for people will be saved when a complete change-over is made.

Thousands of tons of paper are needlessly used per year, and weary hours are added to every student's work simply because we cling to ancient and foolish ways of spelling the words we write.

All of which proves very conclusively that everybody's business is nobody's business, and also that we are a lazy bunch of humans—so lazy that we continually cause ourselves an immense amount of completely needless work.

Two hundred New York debutantes are to come out this season at a cost of $10,000 each. That's almost enough to keep the average American family alive for 10 years.

AL SMITH AND SOCIALISM

AND NOW the Socialists are good and mad at Al Smith. Norman Thomas, head man for Socialism, indignantly denies Al's accusation that the brain trusters have stolen the Socialist platform. Furthermore, the Roosevelt reform program is just the opposite of Socialism, says Mr. Thomas, explaining that the New Deal is trying to save capitalism which he hates.

"There is nothing Socialist about trying to regulate or reform Wall Street," he says. "Socialism wants to abolish the system of which Wall Street is an appropriate symbol.

"There is nothing Socialist about trying to break up great holding companies. We Socialists would prefer to acquire holding companies in order to socialize the utilities now subject to them.

"There was no Socialism at all about taking over all the banks which fell into Uncle Sam's lap, putting them on their feet again, and turning them back to the bankers to see if they could bring them once more to ruin.

"There was no Socialism at all about putting in a co-ordinator to see if he could make the bankrupt railroad systems profitable so they could be more expensive for the Government to acquire as sooner or later the Government, even a Republican Party Government, under capitalism, must."

Not only that, but Mr. Thomas says the only way the Democrats have carried out the Socialist platform is "on a stretcher."

Poor Al. The New Deal Democrats are down on him. The Republicans haven't much use for him. And now the Socialists add a tin can to the string. Maybe he really is the unhappy worrier.

Scientists have found a new star one-eighth the size of the earth, but much heavier. Just the thing for a political football.

INFLUENZA AGAIN

ALTHOUGH California is enjoying the balmiest and most beautiful winter season in years, thousands are becoming victims of an influenza epidemic, especially in the northern part of the state.

Hospitals are filled and many a work-bench and business desk is vacated for from three days to a week because of this pest that defies medical science, climate, vitamin diets and everything else. Schools are closed at many places because so many of the children are ill.

Doctors are as puzzled as the rest of us. They talk of influenza and its manifestations as though it was the work of some capricious supernatural power which varies the type of attack from year to year. And they don't know what to do about it except to fill its victims with fruit juices and keep them in bed.

We nominate as the world's greatest benefactor that physician or research worker who shall first emerge from his laboratory with a sure preventive or cure for the common cold and its more serious derivatives.

It will be simpler to have all employers pay everybody's salary direct to Washington, and then have the government give us an allowance to live on.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

O. O. McIntyre

Diary: Sat long at breakfast and thought of Rebecca West's murmur as she passed Wales in his princeling days: "You will never be free!" And few know the American who has known the new king with the greatest intimacy is Lazier Hunt. So for a constitutional with Percy Crosby in town for the day.

This day I cleared my desk and felt so lost I could scarcely work. And glad when Oscar phoned to step over to be hold the painting of him, newly hung in Peacock Alley. Afterward to talk to Hewitt Howland, the editor, and ran in a minute on Gene Crawley.

To dinner at the Colony with Dick Berlin and tempted to snatch the chit but remembering my 90-cent dessert oo, la, la, thought better. Then walking him to his flat. Home where a card told of Anna May Wong sailing for a first visit to China. And Bernard Baruch had sent some quail.

The widely discussed Algonquin Round Table has finally diminuendoed to the ultimate zero. Not even Axelander Woollcott, who is in exile with a full-blown pout, is to be seen as a noon-day integral of the famed circle. John Peter Toohey is also a confirmed absentee. The Algonquin luncheon crowd is just as lively and more colorful than ever, but gone are familiar faces! The new line-up includes Percy Hammond, Gilbert, Robert Garland, Hendrik Van Loon, H. L. Mencken, Hecht and MacArthur, Robert Benchley, Robert—not George Splenn— Nathan, almost the entire Will Hays office and hosts of other charming people. The stage's professional patina is sustained by such regulars as Ethel Barrymore, Ina Claire, Katharine Cornell, Constance Collier and Mrs. Pat Campbell when in town.

Incidentally, Frank Case closed his bar long before the prohibition era because he did not want his young son in such environment. The lad is grown now so Case is erecting a bar festooned with elaborate decorations by Everett Shinn. He doesn't know whether to call it The Shinn Dig or the Bar Shinn-ister.

Lowell Thomas, who has a fanatical loathing for luncheons and banquets, probably has to attend more than almost anybody in town. His cross is due to his ability for graceful speaking and accomplished toastmastering. Outside of Irvin Cobb, when he was in full forensic flower, not many are so eagerly sought as Thomas. Despite that his daily grind is one of high pressure job phenomena of the day. Aside from his broadcasting, his newsreeling, public speaking, magazine pieces, etc., he is articled to turn out two books a year, sometimes three. His wife sees him so seldon her nickname is "Stranger."

One of the city's most agile octogenarians is the erudite Rollo Ogden, editor of the New York Times. He is at his desk regularly and aside from keen interest in editorial affairs has zest for the lighter side. He drops into a movie now and then, goes to an occasional first night and plays a good game of golf. He reads without glasses and eats whatever he likes.

After 21 months of bucking bad breaks, Julius Tannen has landed across the line right side up on a Hollywood movie lot. He is serving as utility man—and hopes no one spells it with an "f"—in the personal cabinet of The Great Zanuck, no less. Julius was known for years as a glib-tongued actor without a layoff and suddenly for no accountable reason things came to a dead stop. Every flash of the sun was followed by quick eclipse. He now believes the hoodoo broken. So hope his friends.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. — Undercover information has been received by the justice department's bureau of investigation that a nation-wide hunger march is being organized secretly in order to descend on the capital simultaneously with congressional consideration of the relief appropriation. The legislation is scheduled for discussion in April . . . Among the things found by hunchmen of the late Huey Long when his private files were examined was a batch of undated resignations from every Louisiana state official of any consequence . . . Speaker Joe Byrns takes no chances of either offending newsmen or revealing congressional secrets. Asked by a reporter if there were 215 signatures on the petition to force a vote of the Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage refinancing bill, he replied: "That's correct. But remember, you guessed it, I didn't tell you." . . . Although members received a $25-a-day allowance, the recent Miami meeting of the executive council of the A. F. of L. was not a financial success for some of them. Reason: Poor guesswork at the race track. Several of the labor chiefs lost so heavily they had to wire home for more expense money.

ABORTIVE PLAN

Rueful regrets are being voiced privately in Republican quarters over the blow-up of an ingenious publicity campaign that would not have cost the party a cent. The plan was for large corporations, hostile to the New Deal, to devote a portion of their advertising appropriations to political ads. Attractive sample copy was prepared and everything seemed set for the scheme to go through, when legal advisers pointed out that pro-administration stockholders might file suit to enjoin the expenditure of money in this manner. The scheme was dropped . . . Bewildered senate liberals recently invited to tete-a-tete luncheons with the President are wondering what it is all about. The President has brought up no particular subject, merely talked in generalities about a wide range of topics . . . On a table behind Secretary Henry Wallace recently were the following three books: "The Twilight of the Supreme Court," "Farm Tenancy," and "An Outline of the History of China."

In a Washington private school the other day, the teacher admonished an 8-year-old boy for bringing a toy gun to class, and took the gun away from him. The boy was John Baxter, grandson of War Secretary George H. Dern.

RED-LETTER DAY

Feb. 11 is a red-letter day on the political calendar. On it Gov. Gene Talmadge, Georgia's sulphuric anti-New Dealer, and acid-tongued Secretary Harold Ickes are slated to speach from the same platform at Lincoln memorial services in Springfield, Ill. The two men have been hurling hot shots at one another for some time and their personal encounter is expected to provide real pyrotechnics . . . The bonus "baby bonds" now in process of preparation will be about three times the size of a dollar bill. Each bond will carry the name of the veteran to whom it is issued . . . Squat, paunchy Louis B. Ward, Washington lobbyist for Father Coughlin, spoke for an hour and a half at a secret meeting of the senate agriculture committee on how to solve the farm problem. The one-time advertising man's first hand knowledge of the subject consists of a few months spent in the Maine woods last year . . . Despite drought and high prices, the financial statements of the big packers reveal that last year was one of the most successful in their history. Wilson & Co. increased sales from $100,000,000 in 1934 to $223,000,000; Armour & Co. from $564,000,000 to $683,000,000. The refund of about $12,000,000 in processing taxes will boost their profits further.

Gov. Alf Landon has a one-man "brain trust" in the person of Roy Roberts, astute managing editor and one-time Washington correspondent of the Kansas City Star. Landon consults Roberts on all public speeches and campaign strategy . . . Among those invited to the White House reception last Thursday night was Imer B. O'Hara, Michigan state Democratic chairman, recently convicted of bribery. At the time he received his White House invitation he was on trial in Detroit on charges of vote fraud . . . The silicosis revelations by the house labor committee may cost Representative Andrew Edmiston, West Virginia Democrat, his seat. Edmiston comes from the district in which the industrial tragedy occurred but refused to take any action about it. As a result laborites in the section are up in arms against him.

Bellowed Oklahoma's bull-voiced Representative Gassaway: "Every time I hear a speech like Al Smith's it makes me think of Judas Iscariot and Aaron Burr." Shot back Representative Ekwall, Oregon Republican: "Are these gentlemen members of the Democratic party?"

RESETTLEMENT RESHUFFLE

Rex Tugwell, irked by charges that his resettlement administration was bogged down and unproductive, called his regional directors to Washington last week, gave them a fight talk, and promised that bushels of red tape would be thrown out of the window . . . Now that Tugwell has moved into new office quarters in the Barr building, he rubs shoulders with G. O. P. Chairman Henry Fletcher, who is also housed there . . . Senator Nye has stated privately he favors a centralized administration of all cabinet officers for both war and navy, there would be only one secretary, with three assistant secretaries for land forces, naval forces, and air forces. A bill to accomplish this has been introduced by Congressman Boileau of Wisconsin . . . Sol Bloom of New York boasts he is going to stage "the longest celebration the world has ever known." It is the observance of the 105th anniversary of the formation of the U. S. constitution, and will last from Sept. 17, 1937, to April 30, 1939, when the World's fair opens in New York City . . . A handful of Civil war veterans shuffled into the halls of the capitol the other day and asked for an appropriation of $20,000 for a G. A. R. encampment in Washington next September.

Mrs. J. W. Tubbs of North Spurgeon street was hostess yesterday at a charming 1 o'clock luncheon, 12 of her lady friends being present. After luncheon, the ladies enjoyed whist, Mrs. H. D. Connell winning first prize, and Mrs. Frank Remsberg consolation.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Presenting Man's Best Friend: The Tree

MAN is always discovering new ways in which trees are his friends. And he must constantly feel greater shame that he has treated these friends with such ruthless stupidity. Blessed with a forest heritage of infinite variety, and boundless extent our vigorous, but none too foreseeing fathers, laid the monarchs low. And we, stupid sons of rampageous sires, have done little or nothing to restore the damage. Only now are the first gleams of appreciation of the loss percolating through our dullness.

Trees are not merely masses of wood encumbering the earth. They are living, breathing creatures, pulsing with the richness of life. They redeem the earth from nakedness and sterility. They offer shelter to myriads of furtive wild life whose extinction advances as trees disappear. Trees hang sheltering curtains between a seething sun and a panting earth. They catch the raindrops in uplifted arms and sprinkle them in bension to the waiting ground beneath. They wrap tendrils around the precious soil, holding its particles from dissolution.

They seize the flood demon in a billion fingers and render him helpless to wreak his harm.

Trees are the very embodiment of grace and beauty. A landscape without trees is like bread without butter, void of color and flavor. "The groves were God's first temples," because of the intimate contact which trees have with the throbbing heart of creative forces. Because primitive man realized keenly that "only God can make a tree," and that His brooding spirit lingers near the work of His hands. Perhaps civilized man has lost much by transferring his worship from canopies of leaves to carven temples of brick and stone.

And now we are told that trees are delightfully effective in absorbing noise. This may be the means of saving man from nervous collapse. Trees have a peculiarly soothing effect on frazzled nerves. They are so poised, so impervious to the frets and worries of life. And the raucous rackets of modern life, the snorting and banging and endless clatter, are softly stilled by the draperies of trees. A row of leafy sentinels along our highways would do much to restore the sanity and quietude of which we are bereft.

And so God, in His infinite wisdom, adorned this earth for the sons of men. And in the picture trees hold a beautiful and important place. And thoughtless men, "improving" the pattern uproot their friends and turn forest lands into cornfields and cabbage patches. And then they groan because the corn and cabbage markets are glutted with products raised on the tombs of whispering trees.

The People

This department belongs to The People. Letters to the editor on various subjects are welcomed and will be published, provided they do not contain abusive and personal references. Their publication does not necessarily imply the opinions they express are shared by The Journal. Letters must be signed, although signatures will be omitted upon request.

LIKES BROWNE'S LECTURES

To the Editor: The recent protests against Lewis Browne's lecture here on Russia are deplorable. If a man like Browne cannot present an impartial talk on his scholarly findings in a foreign country to the people of Orange county without getting fireworks in return, the smug, narrow, prejudiced people they are proving themselves to be. They could really be wished nothing worse.

The regrettable thing about all this is that the young people are made to suffer. It is their loss in the end. Young people want unbiased facts, they want the truth. They are fearless, they want to know what's going on in the world, and be able to think things through for themselves. The fact that they can sit through a lecture describing an economic system politically opposed to ours and absorb the facts with zest does not necessarily make communists of them. Rather it places them in the category of eager, independent thinkers searching for truth, reaching out for knowledge of international conditions, a pushing forward to higher intellectual planes.

When the American Legion and service club members tell us who we shall hear lecture, and who we shall not hear, they are going fascist on us. They are telling us what to believe, what to think, and controlling our lives for us, just as Mussolini is doing with his subjects. They become a "collective Mussolini." And this constitutes a crime—a crime against the intellectual development of youth.

If the older people, who pay the taxes that pay the lecturers, stop Lewis Browne from speaking before audiences in Santa Ana, and replace him with someone to counteract the effect of his speeches here, they are doing something certainly more lamentable than paying to keep themselves Philistines. They are paying to keep the rising generation in ignorance.

The enormous crowds Mr. Browne has been drawing here is conclusive proof who the people want to hear. His talks are learned, interesting, provocative, and decidedly worthwhile. We need Mr. Browne and his lectures, we need every little scrap of knowledge which we can induce him to give us from that amazing mind of his.

Heaven help the young people who are forced to become educated according to the selfish dictates of older people—who have to take it, or leave it—but you know, it's just barely possible that they're not always going to take it!

FRIEDA G. ROWLAND.
Santa Ana.

Remarkable Remarks

"Federal" means union of states, and ours is not a union of states. Our government was formed by the people as a whole. It is "national." — Representative Sol Bloom, New York, who is annoyed when people refer to "federal" government.

A man who is good enough to shed his blood for his country is good anough to be given a square deal afterward. More than that no man is entitled to, and less than that no man should have.—President Roosevelt, quoting Theodore Roosevelt.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Citizen turns in this information: Out of an approximate 50 cars only one stopped for a pedestrian. The observation was made at a business corner not signal governed. The inference is that you cross the street at your own risk, with the chances about 50 to one in your favor. One man said that he preferred the middle of the block. He thought it was safer. My informant said he never left home to come downtown but what he asked God to take care of him. He knew the average automobile driver would not.

* * *

Why do they call this leap year? I'm a pedestrian, too.

* * *

John McCoy, with five years of practical newspaper work, has been appointed assistant director of the Santa Ana Junior college. I know hundreds of men who have been in the game for half a century who are still just newspaper men. Oh, well, some people get along faster than others. The part of John's duties which has to deal with public relations is what concerns me most. John, you may expect to see me most any old time.

* * *

Jim Farquhar is authority for the statement that my good friend Jim Hurst is building himself a new home and that he finished the dog-house first. Now that is about the most sensible thing I've ever heard of. Even a minister knows there are times when sleeping quarters are more comfortable outside than inside. Well, Jim, here's good luck to you. Sometime I'll buy a package of dog biscuits and come down and spend the night with you.

* * *

Won't be long now before the government will want to take a look at your income ta.. report, then the state wants to get a peek, and when all the rest of the tax agencies finish their inspection you won't have anything left. Business may not be good, but tax collecting is rushing.

* * *

Called on a friend Saturday forenoon but he had gone to Wilmington to see old acquaintances sail for the Panama canal. Which reminds me of the time I said good-bye to Mitt Phillips, Crocket Bowers and Ed Parker, who had a notion they wanted to get closer to Waikiki beach and Mauna Loa. I stood on the pier waiting for the boat to sail. It didn't get away soon enough, and I turned green—but it wasn't envy. My navigation consists of a trip across the bay from San Francisco to Oakland. I could take it. Otherwise I'd leave it.

* * *

The competition between the Santa Anita races and country clubs is becoming keener all the time. The country clubs have the best of the argument from point of time as the race season is limited. There is no cessation to golf unless it rains, and don't you wish it would rain?

* * *

It's here again—the flu. At least a number of cases have stopped to converse with me. The disease is no good. Keep away from it. It's an old timer, visiting us in 1889-90 and 1918-19, the former called Russian and the latter Spanish. I don't like either one of 'em. Used to think the Russians had the best hibernation, but the Spaniards threw a wicked stelleto when it came to flu.

* * *

Signs of spring: Stilts, kites, marbles—and the flu.

* * *

Dollar day. Spent both of mine. Had the flu so I bought handkerchiefs. Believe the day was quite successful. Long Beach tried to tempt me but why go to Long Beach when you can spend your money in Santa Ana. When I go over there it's to listen to the band.

* * *

Last rain came in time, so information comes, to be included in Prophet Murray's predictions. There are at least two things which make Huntington Beach famous—oil and Murray.

* * *

When you adopted Californians meet for your annual picnics in Sycamore park or other places to talk about days beyond recall, you will have to go some to remember the time when the midwest had lower temperatures than they are experiencing this year. Snow piled six to eight feet high, and blizzards laughing at just mere zero, is common experience this year. What is worrying the inhabitants most is the combination of cold and fuel shortage. You can almost hear the wind howling when you read about the weather conditions back in the old state.

Hope you escaped the week-end casualty list.

And now we are urged to buy enough groceries and vegetables to last a week. Then along comes a salesman who sells you a refrigerator so the food won't spoil. It's the old story—one good buy calls for another. So buy—buy and keep business going as usual.
